OPTIONS TO COVER MUNICIPAL ASSETS

Contract Stipulates Lower Electric Rates To Be Established in Tennessee Area.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—(P)—The Tennessee Valley Authority announced tonight it had entered into an agreement with private utility companies to acquire existing electric distribution facilities in the Tennessee valley sections of Alabama, Tennessee and Mississippi.

David E. Lilienthal, power director of the Authority, said the contract would provide a market for all the power resources of Muscle Shoals and that electrical service to households and farmers in the Tennessee valley could be started immediately.

The contract, the Authority announced, contained the following major provisions:

Contract Provisions.
1. Purchase by the Authority of approximately $3,000,000 of property from the Alabama Power Company, the Tennessee Electric Power Company, and the Tennessee Valley Authority, by which the Authority procures immediate urban and rural markets in the three states.

2. Sale by private companies of municipal systems in the Alabama and Mississippi area affected by the Authority to purchase municipal systems in the Tennessee area affected.

3. An agreement by the Tennessee Electric Power Company to reduce its power rates to the level recently established by the Georgia Power Company.

The contract stipulates further an agreement as to power market areas, power interchange rates between the Authority and the power companies and arrangement for the sale of electrical appliances to the Electric Home and Farm Authority, subsidiary of the Tennessee Valley Authority. Lilienthal said that under the agreement the great war-time power grant of Muscle Shoals would be put to work after years of idleness and that President Roosevelt's power "yardstick" was set up in initial form.

Contract in Part.

The contract between the power companies of the three states, all subsidiaries of the Commonwealth and Southern Corporation, was summarized by Lilienthal as follows in part: "The Authority agrees to purchase all the property of the Mississippi Power Company, including all property used in the distribution of electricity to consumers, either urban or rural, in the following counties of Mississippi: Pontotoc, Lee, Itawamba, Union, and others."

$43,300,000 in Pocket; Can't Pay Taxi Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—(P)—A $43,300,000 check in his pocket and not enough money to pay a taxi bill was the predicament in which Lloyd Landau found himself.

Landau is a solicitor for the public works administration. The taxi bill was for 40 cents and he was in Chicago. After displaying the federal check to the doubtful driver and a considerable debate as to his identity, the driver allowed him to enter the Union League Club to borrow 50 cents from the desk clerk.

The check was drawn in connection with a government transfer of funds in Chicago.

TALMADGE ACTION SEEN IN LOCKING OF SUTTON OFFICE

State Veterinarian Transacts Business in Anteroom and Plans New Court Moves.

Dr. J. M. Sutton, state veterinarian, Thursday transacted the duties of his office while locked out of his regular suite at the instance, it was said, of Governor Talmadge, as Sutton's attorneys and the attorney-general's office were planning counter moves in Sutton's battle to force restoration of his salary to the budget.

Judge John B. Hutcheson, of the Stone Mountain circuit, who issued a temporary injunction restraining Sutton from entering his office, said he would hold an informal hearing in Atlanta this morning on a request of the attorney-general's office to vacate the restraining order. The formal hearing had been set for January 18 in Decatur.

When Dr. Sutton went to the capitol Thursday morning, he found that his key would not fit the lock on his office door. Puzzled, he investigated and found that his desk and other equipment had been moved to the office of the attorney-general.

Inquiry developed that the removal of the office equipment and the substitution of locks was done by L. T. Snider, an employee of the governor's office, at the request of Governor Talmadge, who was said to be out of the city. Paul Lindsay, attorney for Sutton, immediately began preparing papers seeking to make Snider a party defendant to the injunction suit.

Sutton Takes Action Calmly.
Sutton took the physical transfer of his equipment calmly, stating to newspapermen that even if the desk is thrown out of the window it will sit on the lawn and transact business, "though," he added, "I might get a covered wagon and paint 'State Veterinarian' on the sides."

B. D. Murphy and J. J. E. Anderson, of the attorney-general's office, called on Judge Hutcheson Thursday at Covington with a request that the restraining order be vacated. Judge Hutcheson made no decision, but agreed to come to Atlanta today, the attorneys said, and hold an informal hearing, probably in the state legal department offices at 10 o'clock. The attorneys said that they are seeking to have the temporary order dissolved so that funds of the department of agriculture may be released and the department may function without hindrance.

Dr. Sutton said that he will follow his desk wherever it is put. He insists, he said, that he still is state veterinarian.

WORK SCHEDULED TO START MONDAY ON SEWERS HERE

$4,000 Set Up by City for Engineering Services as Officials Confer in Mayor Key's Office.

Start by CWA officials Monday on five major sewer projects as a part of the modernization program for metropolitan Atlanta was promised Thursday following a conference in the office of Mayor James L. Key.

During the afternoon, city council's 1934 finance committee set up $4,000 for engineering services, and Alderman Ed A. Gilliam, chairman of the finance committee, said the decks are cleared for immediate work on the improvements totaling $1,018,030 and providing employment for 2,780 men.

The city and Fulton county will provide $75,000 each for material costs within the next few days, and costs of materials in DeKalb county will entail an additional expenditure of about $35,000, according to estimates.

R. L. MacDougall, assistant chief engineer of the state CWA board, informed those attending the conference that satisfactory arrangements with him and with F. H. Frasier, Fulton county CWA engineer, was the only condition precedent to action start on the five projects. He told Chief of Construction Clark Donaldson and Assistant Chief William A. Hansell, in charge of sewers, what was needed and they said it would be forthcoming immediately.

Monday was set as the date for actual start on the projects, long needed in Atlanta, and one of the most important improvements in Atlanta's history. Barring unforeseen delays, men will be assigned to work by Monday.

MacDougall told those attending the conference he would be satisfied with certain facts and figures and Frasier acquiesced. They said every obstacle in the way of immediate start on the program would have been removed when the additional data is filed.

CWA to Hire Laborers.
Employment of all labor will be done by CWA.

The following five projects stand at the head of the parade: 1. Peachtree creek from Chattahoochee river, Northside drive, $451,600. 2. Peachtree creek from Northside drive to the DeKalb county line, $169,640.

3. Peachtree creek from DeKalb county line to Druid Hills, $124,690. 4. Peachtree creek from South river, $117,340. 5. Sugar creek, $124,770.

Total, $1,018,030. It was at first thought that a special meeting of council to set up funds for materials would be mandatory, but Gilliam said he had been informed that it would be unnecessary to secure immediate prosecution of the work.

In addition to Mayor James L. Key, MacDougall, Frasier, Donaldson, Hansell and Gilliam, George F. Longino, chairman of the Fulton county commission; Charles A. Matthews, DeKalb county commissioner; and Frank H. Reynolds attended the conference in Key's office.

Key, Gilliam, Reynolds and city engineers praised the CWA for rushing Atlanta's aid in the matter, and providing funds for emergency work. "Although we will not be able to dispose finally of the sewer problem and this will not offer a complete solution, it is a start on a much-needed work," Key said. "We are threatened on all sides by suits because of the nuisance which are created by dumped untreated sewage into adjacent streams. This will aid us in answering them. It will pave the way for other work and will convince the citizens of our effort to abate the nuisances."

"Gentlemen, you have behaved very nicely," Key said with a smile when the government and state engineers agreed to the program and informed him that all conditions imposed by CWA bodies would be met with compilation and submission of the required data. "I want to congratulate you and to"

WHITNEY FAVORS STOCK INCREASE BY FULTON BANK

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—(P)—The only alternative to the "destructive policy" of financing railroads, A. P. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, declared tonight "is government ownership and operation."

Addressing a mass meeting of the farmer-labor political federation at Cooper Union, the labor leader said that "since government money must be used to assist the railroads, railroad labor believes it is justified in insisting that the former unwise financial policies of railroad financiers be stopped and that the government take over the job of financing railroads."

"We propose," Whitney added, "that the government provide credit for the continued operation of the railroads, take the profit out of furnishing credit and relieve the industry of that evil and unnecessary load. The past destructive and reckless financial policies of the railroads... justify the demand that the government take over the whole job of financing railroads if industrial and financial leaders

Atlanta Fireman Under Arrest For Turning In 14 False Alarms

Because he spent his night off duty New Year's eve turning in 'false fire' alarms in West End, Fred E. Leister, a fireman of Engine House No. 4, will face Recorder John L. Cone at 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning on charges of disorderly conduct, specified by police as "turning in false alarms."

During the height of New Year merrymaking last Monday morning four fire companies on the west side of town were kept busy answering false alarms. Coming in at from 3 to 5-minute intervals, the alarms at one time had equipment of all four companies racing through the streets. A total of 14 calls in the area were turned in.

Arrested Thursday night by Call Officers Heath and Floyd, Leister admitted that he had turned in a number of alarms and said, "I suppose I just went crazy. I was not drinking and I was celebrating the advent of the New Year."

Chief O. J. Parker, of the fire department, whose investigation led to the arrest of Leister, said, "I feel that Leister is a good fellow and a fireman is beyond credibility. If Leister feels that such antics are fitting to a New Year or any other celebra-

RACKET CHARGED IN LIQUOR TRADE; TAX FIGHT BEGINS

New Yorker Demands Higher Levy to Bring in Revenue Promised by Repeal Advocates.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—(P)—Acceptance by the house of the ways and means committee's liquor bill without material change was apparent today after considerable debate in which charges were made that poisonous alcoholic beverages were being sold at huge profits by racketeers in the liquor industry.

The major issue raised over the measure came on its proposed $2-a-gallon distilled spirits rate which was estimated by Chairman Doughton, democrat, North Carolina, as capable of raising $300,000,000 on the basis of an expected 150,000,000-gallon annual consumption.

Notice was served by Representative O'Connor, democrat, New York, that before a vote could be had on the bill tomorrow, he would offer an amendment to increase the rate to $5 a gallon. He argued that the advocates of repeal had "sold the country" on the idea of revenue from liquor and asserted this was "no time to run out on the promise."

Urges Ban on France.
A round of applause greeted the demand of Representative Francis Robinson, republican, Illinois, that an embargo be placed against French wines because of that country's failure to pay its war debt. Calling the French a "nation of cheaters" and "defaulter-misers," Robinson also said President Roosevelt should force France to pay its debt or lose its export trade to this country.

In opening five hours of debate on the measure, Chairman Doughton disclosed that the liquor bill, designed to raise $470,000,000 annually, including $100,000,000 from the $5-a-barrel beer levy, was temporary.

A complete revision of the liquor laws is contemplated later, he said, adding that the purpose of the temporary measure was to start a flow of new revenue into the treasury through the increase over the present $1.10-a-gallon rate.

The $2 rate, he explained, was considered "reasonable" as well as the maximum that could be levied to produce the most revenue, and that the same time low enough to eliminate illicit traffic.

"Poisonous" Liquor.
O'Connor charged that millions of gallons of blended and rectified "poisonous" liquor containing "raw alcohol" was being sold at high prices.

Importers, he said, were paying the $2-a-gallon duty plus the present $1.10-a-gallon internal tax and were selling foreign liquors at the same price domestic leaders were receiving for "poisonous" liquor.

A charge of racketeering by the domestic liquor industry was made by Representative Fitzpatrick, democrat, New York, who contended that whiskey could be made at between 30 and 40 cents a gallon and was being sold for $40 a gallon.

"That is racketeering, I don't know what it is," said Fitzpatrick. Representative Samuel B. Hill, democrat, Washington, a member of the ways and means committee, said he had testified that whiskey could be made for 30 and 40 cents a gallon.

O'Connor asked him if he thought the rate of tax would affect the price. Hill replied that the $2 rate agreed upon by the committee was a compromise between members on the committee who wanted either a higher or lower rate.

6 Hurt, Damage Heavy In Florida Typhoon

PENSACOLA, Fla., Jan. 4.—(P)—After whipping up lofty waterspouts in the harbor here today, two tornadoes lashed suddenly at the city, leaving six persons injured and property damage unofficially estimated at $100,000.

Three-year-old Marion Kenneth Rigby, most seriously injured, may not live. Others seriously injured: Doctor Guernsey, cut by flying glass.

The Rev. Thornton Crews, also cut by flying glass. Three negroes, Betty Baldwin, Elizabeth Morris and James Dexter. Many others were slightly injured.

One of the storms whipped westward along the waterfront, turned northward along the edge of the business section and veered again to the northeast, striking a negro section and leaving a swath 150 feet wide and three blocks long.

At least 30 houses were demolished in the negro section. Debris was blown half a mile. As it followed the shore, the tornado damaged the Bruce dry docks to an estimated extent of $10,000. Only damage in the vicinity of the business district was to the Guy E. Yaste Automobile Company. Parts of the building housing the company were blown into a group of automobiles parked in an adjacent lot. A number of automobiles were destroyed and Yaste said the damage would equal $8,000.

The other storm skirted the shore and blew a roof off a magazine at the naval station. Damage there was estimated at $2,000. There was no water damage from the waterspouts.

Union of Bartenders Formed in Atlanta

For the first time since 1920 Atlanta Thursday had a full-fledged union of bartenders when 60 dispensers of 3.2 beer met and resurrected the Hotel and Restaurant Employees and Beverage Dispensers International Alliance, Local No. 192, according to announcement by John Fichter, secretary and treasurer.

The organization is the same as that which flourished here before the dry era and is affiliated with the Atlanta Federation of Trades. Officers of the new group as elected Thursday are O. L. Pope, president; James S. Campbell, vice president; H. F. Francis, recording secretary; H. F. Ficus, inspector; James Grosser, inner guard, and Mr. Fichter.

FOUNDER HINTED AS BANK COLLAPSE COSTS $20,000,000

High French Governmental Officials Involved in Sensational Crash of 'Pawnshops.'

PARIS, Jan. 4.—(P)—France was shaken today by charges that ten to twenty-million-dollar frauds have been revealed by the collapse of the Credit Municipal Bank of Bayonne, which was the city's pawnshop, and the disappearance of its mysterious founder, Serge Stavisky.

The manager of the institution was jailed December 30 and a warrant was issued for Stavisky in connection with the recent alleged issuance of unauthorized bonds.

Premier Camille Chautemps, with names high in French governmental quarters involved in the affair, declared Stavisky, who police said had many aliases, will be brought to justice and the case sifted thoroughly. Insurance companies were reported by investigators to have been the principal victims of the sale of fraudulent pawnshop bonds, which Stavisky—evidently the alias of Serge Alexandre—is charged with issuing from three to ten times the pawnshop's legal limit of 50,000,000 francs (about $10,000,000).

A world-wide man-hunt was organized immediately. Not only Stavisky but others associated with him were being sought. All nations surrounding France were asked by the government to watch their frontiers. Premier Chautemps was told Stavisky was fleeing to South America and decided on the international search.

The Bank of International Settlements denied the report that the bank had lent Stavisky $50,000,000, saying it never had engaged in any operation involving Hungarian bonds.

Harlee Branch Slated For Federal Promotion

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—(P)—Harlee Branch, prominent Georgia newspaperman and executive assistant to Postmaster-General James A. Farley, will be nominated to the senate as second assistant postmaster-general.

O'Mahoney yesterday became Wyoming's new senator and William W. Hawes, of Huron, S. D., now second assistant postmaster-general, will have supervision of railway, ocean and air mail services and related duties.

The Atlanta newspaperman's services were lent to the democratic national headquarters in New York during the 1932 campaign by Major John S. Cohen, president and editor of the Atlanta Journal, as second chairman of the democratic national committee.

Last March Postmaster-General Farley asked Branch to become a member of his official family as executive assistant.

U. S. WILL BORROW 11 BILLION DOLLARS IN NEXT 6 MONTHS

National Debt to Reach an All-Time High of $31,000,000,000 by Close of Fiscal Year of 1935, President Indicates.

RETURN TO NORMAL IS URGED FOR 1936

Reed, of Republican Old Guard, Joins Democrats in Belief That Debt Total Is Not Formidable.

(Text of Message in Page 8)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—(P)—President Roosevelt today asked congress to approve the biggest peace-time spending program in American history and, despite some head-wagging, it was soon apparent that his recommendations would be enacted in much the same form as he submitted them.

Some democrats were surprised at the size of the figures proposed, while the republicans expressed amazement and a few of them concern. The president's policy with its huge majority rallied staunchly around him, however, and support, at least in intention, of opposing the program, was indicated by some members of the minority.

Reed Not Alarmed.
Much significance was attached to the statement of Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, influential member of the old guard republican group. He said the country was "perfectly able to endure a debt as large as $31,000,000,000 (the point which Roosevelt indicated the debt would reach in 1935), and if we can depend upon the president's assurance that after that debt is reached the budget will be balanced in fact, there is nothing to worry about."

Reed's simplest terms, the budget for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1935, and estimates for the remainder of the current year forecast: "The government borrowing of ten billion dollars during the next six months. Expenditures for the two years totalling $16,529,805,067, receipts aggregating $12,549,604,234, a deficit for the two years combined of $3,980,200,833, and a consequent increase in the public debt to $31,834,000,000, the highest point it ever has reached."

Of these figures, advances, $5,017,488, were listed as general outlays for the ordinary expenses of the government and the remainder, $11,512,317,200, was set down as emergency spending intended to further the recovery program.

Should Observe Limit.
"It is my belief that so far as we can make certain, the government should seek to hold the total debt within this amount," said the president, referring to his $31,000,000,000 forecast.

"Furthermore, the government during the balance of this calendar year should plan to bring its 1936 expenditures, including recovery and relief, within the amount expected in the fiscal year 1936."

Thus, the chief executive served notice that after June, 1935, he intends to put the government on a "pay-as-you-go" basis with the added assertion:

"We should plan to have a definitely balanced budget for the third year of recovery and from that time on seek a continuing reduction of the national debt."

Favors Present Rate.
In addition, Mr. Roosevelt recommended that the present rate of 3 cents for non-letter mail be continued, as his postoffice estimates were predicated upon it, and asked that the present ban on automatic pay increases for government employees be lifted so far as army, navy and marine corps personnel were concerned.

To provide a co-ordinated control of emergency expenditures, he announced that he had given the budget bureau

Man Kidnaps Orphan To Aid in Gem Robbery

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 4.—(P)—George W. McDonald, 37, confessed today that he lured Robert Walsh, 11, from St. James' orphanage Tuesday to help him in a jewel robbery, according to the police. He admitted, officers said, that he was convicted in 1915 at Denver after a similar crime there. McDonald and the boy, who had been lured from the orphanage by promise of life on a ranch and "lots of money," were found by the police in a rooming house last night. County Attorney Henry Real today said he would file charges of child stealing against McDonald, who said he was a former inmate of the Wyoming penitentiary. Before taking the boy from the orphanage, McDonald, giving a false name and improper credentials, had applied to Rev. John Palubicki, the superintendent, for a boy to adopt. SOLONS OPPOSE UNION OF COAST GUARD, NAVY WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—(P)—The proposed merger of the coast guard with the navy today brought forth strong opposition from members of congress from all the states on the Atlantic seaboard, the Great Lakes and gulf states. Almost 40 representatives, including both democrats and republicans, met in the office of Representative Lindsay Warren, democrat, North Carolina, and unanimously adopted a motion opposing the projected transfer on the ground that it was "unwise."

ATLANTA TEACHER DROPS DEAD AT DESK

Miss Daisy Pennington Succumbs to Attack at Kirkwood School.

A sudden attack, which seized her as she prepared to begin the day's work of teaching her third grade pupils in the Kirkwood schools, caused the death Thursday morning of Miss Daisy Pennington, of 198 Ponce de Leon avenue, who was widely known in city educational circles. The "salvation rescue squad" of the Atlanta fire department rushed to the school with a pullmotor to resuscitate the stricken teacher but she was dead when the rescue men arrived. Miss Pennington, a native of old Campbell county and a teacher in the Kirkwood school for 11 years, was apparently in good health when she arrived at the school Thursday morning, other teachers said. She began to arrange papers on her desk when she suddenly fell unconscious to the floor. Her pupils summoned other teachers but Miss Pennington was dead when a private physician arrived. Funeral services will be conducted at 11 o'clock this morning at Spring Hill, and the body will be taken to Palmetto for interment. Pupils of Miss Pennington will attend the rites. She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. W. G. Gantt, of Atlanta, and Mrs. N. O. Skeen, of Palmetto; two brothers, W. H. Pennington, of Fairburn, and T. P. Pennington, of Albuquerque, New Mexico, and two nephews, William and Osborne Skeen, of Palmetto.

WEAVER TO CONTEST OUSTER AS ENGINEER

Issuing a petition to the Decatur board of commissioners, W. H. Weaver, ex-deposed city engineer, Thursday threatened to make a court issue of his dismissal in favor of C. V. Hancock, it was learned Thursday night when Mr. Weaver made public a copy of his petition for reinstatement. The threatened fight in court followed closely behind a verbal resignation of C. V. Hancock, appointed Monday night to succeed Mr. Weaver. Roy M. Abernathy, city manager of Decatur, said that though he had agreed Wednesday night to increase Hancock's salary, that the latter had tendered his resignation, but that he "hoped that he would reconsider." Mr. Weaver said he would contest his ouster on the grounds that his successor was appointed while he still held office because "Hancock was appointed January 1, and I was not notified of my dismissal until January 2." His petition to the city board Weaver set out that the amendment to the Decatur city charter of August 16, 1920, gave him grounds for appeal. He declared that he had been diligent in his work and that no complaint had arisen and that his department had "operated at a saving to the city." He claimed that there was "no just or reasonable cause for removal."

Wallace Approves Burley Agreement

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—(P)—The farm administration announced tonight Secretary Wallace had approved tentatively the marketing agreement for burley tobacco buyers, designed to assure growers a minimum average price of 12 cents a pound on the 1933 crop. The agreement was forwarded to the buyers for signature. It would pledge 10 companies to purchase an aggregate of 200,000,000 pounds of the 1933 burley crop at an average price of not less than 12 cents, and would be effective as of December 11, when the current marketing season opens. When signed, the agreement will be submitted to Secretary Wallace for final approval which would make it effective. J. B. Hutson, chief of the tobacco section of the farm administration, said most of the buyers indicated their approval of the agreement and he expected it would be signed promptly.

U.S. Prosecution Asked For Officer-Lynchings

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—(P)—A bill to give to the federal government the right to prosecute peace officers of its political subdivisions implicated in lynchings was introduced today by Senators Costigan, democrat, Colorado, and Wagner, democrat, New York. The measure, while it came from democratic members, apparently lacked administration support in view of a statement by Attorney-General Cummings that he would make no recommendation to congress for a federal law to combat mob outbreaks which recently have spotted the country. Cummings pointed out that the federal government could concern itself only with crimes of an interstate nature, while lynchings usually were of a local nature.

MORGENTHAU GETS SPEEDY APPROVAL

Opposition Fails to Rise to Appointment of Humphrey Successor.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—(P)—Indication that opposition probably would be raised in the senate to another appointment by President Roosevelt faded today after the way had been cleared for quick confirmation of his secretary of the treasury. In the long list of appointments that had been made during the adjournment of congress was one for James M. Landis, of Massachusetts, to succeed William E. Fletcher, of Washington state, as federal trade commissioner.

Humphrey, a republican member, was removed by President Roosevelt and has taken his case into the courts, contending that he was ejected without cause and was entitled to his pay. It was thought the republicans would fight on this issue, but that expectation failed when the vote to seat Landis was taken.

The nomination of Henry Morgenthau Jr. to be secretary of the treasury today was assured of quick confirmation after the senate finance committee had unanimously approved it, and Senator Louis, democrat, Louisiana, had announced on the floor he would not contest the appointment.

Morgenthau appeared in person before the committee and after a lengthy examination as to his qualifications by committee members and by Long, a non-member, regarding internal revenue bureau cases, all 18 senators voted for a favorable report.

Morgenthau's nomination was one of more than a hundred sent to the senate by the president today, among them two ambassadors—Hal H. Sevier, of Texas, for Chile, and William C. Bullitt, of Pennsylvania, for Soviet Russia—and 18 ministers to foreign countries.

R. Walton Moore, Virginia; Francis B. Sayre, Massachusetts; and Sumner Welles, Maryland, were named assistant secretaries of state. George C. Mathews, Wisconsin, was named federal trade commissioner along with Landis.

William I. Myers, of New York, was nominated governor of the farm credit administration, and Elbert G. Bennett, Utah, and Walter J. Cummings, Illinois, directors of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

BUDGET ESTIMATES GIVEN AT A GLANCE

Debt increase 7,309,068,211

Public debt total 29,847,000,000

Receipts $ 2,374,665,479

Public debt total 31,834,000,000

LYLE WOULD ABOLISH SURVEY EXPERT'S JOB

An effort to abolish the job of W. Evans Chambers, city supply expert, will be made before the finance committee. Councilman George B. Lyle, member, said Thursday night following the first session of the 1934 body.

Lyle said he believed Chambers' services could be dispensed with and that the city could use the expense of that department to better advantage for the benefit of Atlantians.

It also developed that Councilman J. Raymond Curtis, of the tenth ward and chairman of the Atlanta board of firemasters, and Councilman G. Dan Bridges, of the police committee, will battle to save respective departments.

The budget commission has recommended that 21 members of the fire department be dropped and 10 policemen be dropped as emergency moves. Those opposing the personnel reduction contend that a greater salary reduction than the proposed 10 per cent from basic for the year should be imposed and the personnel of the municipality remain intact.

Mayor James L. Key, in the interim, held on his desk a council resolution ordering department heads to keep members of the personnel reduction in mind in the office of architects, and this prevented an earlier gathering of the finance committee.

A meeting of the special police station committee is slated for 3 o'clock this afternoon in the office of architects, and this prevented an earlier gathering of the finance committee.

FATHER OF 15 KILLED IN BUFORD ACCIDENT

BUFORD, Ga., Jan. 4.—(P)—James R. Medley, Spartanburg, S. C., farmer, and father of 15 children, was killed today in an automobile accident here. En route with his son, J. E. Medley, to Atlanta, their automobile had just left the concrete pavement at the edge of the city and was on wet asphalt pavement when it skidded and overturned.

Young Medley was not injured. The automobile fell over a small embankment and pinned Mr. Medley beneath. His body was taken to local undertaking establishment and will be sent to Spartanburg later.

Medley is survived by his wife, eight sons and seven daughters.

RADIO COMMISSIONER TO STUDY KNIGHT CLAIM

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—(P)—Judge E. O. Sykes, chairman of the federal radio commission, said today that until he had made a study of the situation he would not comment on the request of Alabama's attorney general, Thomas E. Knight Jr., that the commission discipline H. V. Kallenborn, national radio commentator. Knight alleged Kallenborn broadcast a statement that "Scottsboro boys" could not receive a fair trial in Alabama.

Fund Asked Is Double U. S. Money in Country

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—(P)—The government plans to borrow within the next six months almost twice as much actual money as there is in the country.

The prospective borrowing, as revealed by the budget message today is a record of $10,000,000,000. The amount of money in circulation (save from governmental funds for which no accounting can be made) totaled only $5,750,000,000 at the close of business January 3, 1934.

Uncle Sam will get his $10,000,000,000 through the use of bank and other credit, since most financial transactions are carried on that way.

RONALD FINNEY WINS STAY OF SENTENCE

TOPEKA, Kans., Jan. 4.—(P)—The Kansas supreme court late today granted a stay of execution of sentence for Ronald Finney, bond broker under a $1 to $35-year penitentiary sentence in connection with his alleged engineering of the million-dollar Kansas forged bond scandal.

Finney was ordered held in custody of the Shawnee county sheriff until final disposition of his appeal, or until court refused to reduce his $40,000 further order from the court. The appeal bond.

KITCHEN TESTED RECIPES

by Sally Sawyer

You are apt to be hungrier on crisp autumn mornings when there's just a threat of frosty winter in the air. The glass of orange juice-toast-and-eggs combination, with two teaspoons of butter, is not sufficient to send you off with a warm snug feeling when days grow longer—and colder! So here are some breakfast suggestions to give you that "well begun is half done" feeling.

Preserved Eggs
Hot Cereal and Cream
Fried Eggs on Toast
Coffee

Poached Eggs.
Beat the egg whites stiff and make a nest of the whites on each square of toast. Into this is dropped a little butter and the unbroken egg yolk. Salt is sprinkled over the top. The toast is placed in a moderately hot oven until the egg is set.

Grapefruit.
Prepared Cereal with Cream
Ham and Eggs, Country Style
Pineapple Breakfast Cake
Coffee

Ham and Eggs.
Gash the fat on a half-inch slice of ham. Put in a frying pan and sear quickly on both sides. Then cook slowly for about ten minutes. Remove to a hot platter and keep warm till ready to serve. Break the eggs separately into a saucer and slip into the ham fat. Cook over a low fire and baste with hot fat until the whites become set. Season with salt and pepper and serve immediately on the platter of ham.

Pineapple Breakfast Cake.
Sift together one cup flour, (one-half teaspoon salt, two teaspoons baking powder and one tablespoon sugar), and cut in three tablespoons of shortening. Add one well-beaten egg and two tablespoons of milk and pat into a round greased tin. Drain the contents of an eight ounce can of crushed pineapple and spread over the top. Sprinkle with one-half cup brown sugar and dot with butter. Bake in a hot oven for fifteen or twenty minutes and serve hot.

Orange or Tomato Juice.
Scrambled Eggs, Bacon Biscuits
Strawberry Jam
Coffee

Bacon Biscuits.
Two cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 2 table-spoons shortening, 1-2 cup cooked sliced bacon, about 2-3 cup milk.

Mix and sift the flour, baking powder and salt and work in the shortening. Cold butter fat makes a good shortening for these biscuits. Add the diced bacon which has been cooked until crisp and brown. Add enough milk to make a soft dough. Turn the dough onto a floured board roll to one-half inch thickness and cut with a biscuit cutter. Bake in a hot oven until browned. In making scrambled eggs try adding one teaspoon minced parsley and a few drops of lemon juice. Another way to give this dish variety is to substitute tomatoes for the eggs.

Steamed Pineapple Pudding.
Sift together one and one-half cups of flour, three teaspoons baking powder and one-fourth teaspoon salt. Add three-fourths cup liquid consisting of the syrup of one eight-ounce can of crushed pineapple and sufficient water to make the required amount. Add two tablespoons melted butter, Beat two egg whites stiff, add three tablespoons sugar and fold into the batter. Fill individual buttered molds half full of the batter and add one tablespoon crushed pineapple to each, then cover with the remaining batter. Steam 30 minutes. This recipe makes from six to eight molds depending on the size. Serve with the following:

Sauce: Mix one-half cup sugar with two tablespoons flour and add one and one-half cups water or use pineapple juice. Add juice of one-half lemon and boil until proper consistency.

Butterscotch Pudding.
Four tablespoons corn starch, one cup water, one cup evaporated milk, one tablespoon butter, one cup brown sugar, dash of salt, one teaspoon vanilla. Mix cornstarch with one-fourth cup water. Scald remaining milk and water. Melt butter, add sugar and cook until sugar melts, stirring constantly. Add slowly to hot milk, stirring until well blended. Add cornstarch mixture and stir until thickened. After thickening, add vanilla, well cooking 20 minutes. Add flavoring and pour into molds to cool.

Rich Rice Pudding.
One-half cup rice, 4 cups milk, 1-2 cup molasses, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 tablespoon butter.

Wash the rice, combine ingredients except butter and pour into a greased baking dish. Bake three hours in a slow oven, stirring three times during the first hour to prevent rice from settling. At the last stirring add one-half cup raisins and the butter.

To three cups of cake crumbs add enough hot water to make a thick soup of sweet milk and beat well. Beat the yolk of one large egg and add to the mixture. Thicken on top of the stove stirring constantly. Then place in a baking dish and cover with meringue. Brown lightly in oven. Nut meats, raisins and coconut, if not already in the cake add to the flavor.

Banana Float.
Two large bananas, 1 cup of sweet milk, 3-4 cup of sugar, heaping tablespoon of butter and one of flour, 1 egg.

Cream butter and flour, add gradually well-beaten egg, then milk. Cook over slow fire stirring constantly until it begins to thicken, then pour the boiling custard over sliced bananas. Any fruit or flavor can be substituted for bananas. The peel of an orange grated and its juice makes delicious "orange float." This, however, should be cooked in the custard.

Baking Powder Biscuits.
Two cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 3-4 teaspoon salt, 2 table-spoons fat, 3-4 cup milk.

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Rub fat in with tips of fingers or chop with a knife. Add milk and mix to make a soft dough. Use a knife in mixing. Toss on a well-floured board. Pat and roll to one-inch thickness. Cut with biscuit cutter dipped in flour. Place close together on a greased pan and bake in a hot oven 10 to 15 minutes.

Dixie Beaten Biscuit.
One quart flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 table-spoons shortening, ice cold water or milk.

Sift flour and salt together, work in the shortening thoroughly and mix to a stiff dough with the water or milk. Then beat until it blisters, folding the dough over and over on itself and beating with a rolling pin or wooden mallet. Roll half an inch thick, cut into rounds, prick the surface with a fork or cutter and bake 25 or 30 minutes in a moderate oven.

Black Walnut Bread.
Two cups graham flour, 2 cups white flour, 1 cup sugar, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, 2 cups milk, 1 cup nuts, 1 cup chopped dates.

Mix ingredients, pour into two loaf pans lined with wax paper. Let stand 15 minutes and bake one hour in a slow oven.

Feather Biscuits.
Two cups flour, 2 to 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-3 cup fat, 2-3 cup milk, 1 egg.

Sift the dry ingredients. Put into a cup two-thirds cup of milk, beat until the milk comes to the top. Cut the lard into the dry ingredients, beat an egg and add to the milk. Mix the egg and milk mixture together, then the flour. Dough will be fairly stiff but kneading quickly and lightly on a floured board for a few seconds will result in light and crisp biscuits. The light pinch off three little rolls and place them for one biscuit when baked.

Nut Bread.
Sift two and one-half cups of flour, three teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon salt and one-half cup of sugar. Mix with one-half cup of chopped pecans. Beat one egg and add one cup of sweet milk. Stir into the flour mixture and beat. Pour into a greased bread pan. Bake 50 to 60 minutes.

Oatmeal Muffins.
Two cups oatmeal soaked overnight in two cups sour milk. In the morning add two teaspoons soda, one tablespoon sugar, a little salt, one cup flour. Bake in gem pans in a quick oven.

With more hours spent indoors, friends form a habit of dropping in for afternoon tea or bridge and it's a smart idea to have some ideas for refreshments stored away in the back of your mind. Since sandwiches are so easy to prepare—and so welcome why not try a few of the recipes suggested below next time you have guests?

Sweet Sandwiches.
A very delicious filling for an afternoon tea sandwich is grated maple syrup and finely chopped blanched almonds mixed with cream to a consistency to spread.

Zippy Sandwiches.
One cup old English cheese, 1-2 cup pickle relish, 1 loaf white bread.

Mix cheese and relish to a spreading consistency and spread between buttered slices of white bread. Remove crusts and cut each sandwich into three strips—make 36 sandwiches.

Deviled Cheese and Ham Sandwiches.
Mix two cups of grated American cheese, one-half cup ground ham, four teaspoons prepared mustard, and one teaspoon Worcestershire sauce. Butter rye bread and form into sandwiches having a filling one-quarter inch thick. At serving time toast to a golden brown. Cut attractively and serve.

Fruity Nut Sandwiches.
One-fourth cup peanut butter, 1-3 cup cream, 1-2 package dates.

Beat cream, add peanut butter, milk or orange juice, into peanut butter with a fork. Pit dates or use ready pitted dates, slice with scissors or knife. Mix with peanut butter and spread. Cheese and Tomato-Ginger.

Conserved Sandwiches.
The recipe for tomato-ginger conserve is as follows: Drain juice from fresh or canned tomatoes. Mix two cups pulp with two cups chopped apple, one lemon put through the food chopper and four tablespoons prepared ginger, chopped. Cook 15 minutes, add three cups of sugar and continue cooking until mixture is thick and clear. Pour into clean hot jars and seal. In using this conserve for sandwiches use sparingly on a thick layer of cream cheese. These are best served as open sandwiches.

DOBBS' CONFIRMATION

Dr. Marion C. Pruitt Installed as President of Fulton Society.

Confirmation by city council of the nominations of Samuel C. Dobbs Sr., chairman, and Arthur I. Harris as members of the Grady hospital board of trustees was urged Thursday night in resolutions unanimously adopted by the Fulton County Medical Society at its annual banquet at the Atlanta Club. Dr. Marion C. Pruitt was installed as president of the society and delivered an address asking that members of the society keep in step with the times.

Confidence of the society in Mr. Dobbs and Mr. Harris and the high esteem in which they are held were expressed in the resolutions offered by Dr. C. W. Strickler. The society went on record as requesting Mr. Harris to withdraw his resignation, and Mr. Dobbs to decline to do so, urged Mayor James L. Key to renominate him.

"The Grady hospital as it stands today is in better condition than it has ever been in its history, and the progress that has been made since the present board has been in charge has been remarkable," the resolutions said. "With an increased number of patients, the expenses have been reduced and the mortality rate has been lowered, and not only this, but these gentlemen have obtained money and other equipment going into the thousands of dollars which otherwise the city would have to pay. It, therefore, seems to this body passing strange that anyone should fault with any member of such a board."

Dr. E. D. Shanks was installed as president-elect; Dr. Mark S. Dougherty was installed as vice president, and Dr. M. T. McChesney as secretary and treasurer. Dr. Hewlett H. Askew is the new chairman of the board of trustees, and Dr. R. A. Bartholomew is a new member of the board of trustees.

Dr. J. Fletcher Hanson, Dr. W. K. Purks and Dr. Rusk G. Anderson were awarded the L. C. Fischer prize for the best original research. Honorable mention went to Dr. Lee Bivings and to Dr. John W. Turner. The prize for the best-written paper went to Dr. L. Minor Blackford and Dr. Henry McChesney, with honorable mention to Dr. Mark S. Dougherty. The committee in charge of the awards is Dr. Allen H. Buncie, chairman; Dr. Frank K. Boland and Dr. Lewis M. Gaines.

Short addresses were delivered by Dr. C. W. Roberts and Dr. G. W. Quinn. Dr. Lindsey Hopkins Jr. read an exhibition of magic. Dr. E. Barber, retiring president, called the meeting to order. Dr. Marion T. Benson was toastmaster. Graham Jackson and orchestra furnished music.

DUCE, SIMON URGE END TO ARMS DISCUSSIONS

ROME, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini and Sir John Simon, the British foreign secretary, reached full agreement tonight on a policy of abandoning disarmament proposals incapable of being put into effect now.

An official communique said the two statesmen favored abandonment of such measures and adoption of others that offered practical fulfillment.

The communique was issued after a banquet and reception given for Sir Duce and Sir John by Sir Eric Drummond, British ambassador to Italy.

"I Duce and Sir John Simon are in complete accord," said the statement, "in recognizing that it is absolutely indispensable that disarmament discussions come to a conclusion quickly."

"All ideals and proposals that do not embody elements that are practical and capable of prompt realization should be abandoned."

"The discussions should be guided toward those objectives that can be considered as mature in international public opinion and which would be likely to meet the approval of interested states."

The premier and the British visitor, in continued efforts to find a solution to the Franco-German disarmament impasse, talked alone for an hour and a quarter this afternoon, carrying a step farther the conversations on international problems begun yesterday.

It was understood that Mussolini had demanded equality for Germany.

Sir John planned to leave for home shortly, leaving Fulvio Sivich, an Italian undersecretary, and Sir Eric Drummond, the British ambassador to Rome, to continue the discussions if necessary.

The fascist press, meanwhile, pleaded for unity, harmony and solidarity to face President Roosevelt's expressed disinclination to participate in the League of Nations peace arising in the far east."

Forming the groundwork of today's discussions, informed circles said, were the four basic objectives of Italy's foreign policy—a reform of the League of Nations; a practical use of the Mussolini-inspired pact, or at least of its central idea; agreement on armaments recognizing German demands for equality; and a new point regarding the treaty of Versailles.

TVA WILL ACQUIRE POWER FACILITIES IN THREE STATES

Benton, Tippah, Prentiss and Tishomingo.

"The Alabama Power Company agreed to convey, when and as requested by the Authority, all of its property, excepting municipal distribution systems, in the following counties in Alabama: Lauderdale, Colbert, Lawrence, Limestone, Morgan, the north half of Franklin and some of the northern part of Cullman. In addition, the Authority undertakes to buy about 1,600 acres of land owned by the Alabama Power Company, at the Joe Wheeler dam site in Alabama."

Tennessee Properties.
The Tennessee Electric Company, agreed to convey, when and as requested by the Authority, all of its property including property used in serving both rural and urban communities in the counties of Anderson, Campbell, Scott and western part of Claiborne, Tenn., together with a transmission line from Cove Creek to Knoxville, in Knox county.

"The aggregate price for Alabama and Mississippi properties, including Joe Wheeler dam site, is fixed at $2,800,000, and all the Tennessee properties at $800,000 additional."

The contract contemplates that the power companies in Tennessee and Alabama will sell their municipal distribution systems to the respective municipalities, except for such as the Authority may itself purchase in Tennessee. The contract obligates the Alabama and Tennessee companies to attempt to come to a reasonable agreement for the sale of these municipal systems with respect to the municipalities. Where no agreement can be reached in three months, the Authority may serve a competing municipal plant."

WHITNEY FAVORS U. S.-OWNED RAILS

continue to insist upon "a destructive policy of railroad consolidation with the consequent virtual wiping out of small communities throughout the nation and if private interests insist upon the freedom to follow such short-sighted financial practices."

Whitney declared, "then there is only one alternative."

"And that alternative," he said, "is government ownership and operation."

Declaring that most consolidation proposals "are not designed with a view to the general welfare, but with the narrow and selfish purpose of enhancing private profits," Whitney said:

"It is proposed to blot out small communities throughout the nation, impair the efficient nation-wide railroad service we now enjoy, destroy the life insurance of their property rights of hundreds of thousands of American citizens—railroad workers and inhabitants of small communities—add more than 200,000 men to the already intolerably large number of unemployed railroad workers."

Wage Restoration Asked.
Whitney said it is "contingent" that employees have no rights to the fruits of their increased productivity because such increased productivity has been brought about by expenditure of capital funds.

"It is becoming more and more evident," he added, "that we must perish the thought that men must be made subordinate to the free operation and wild-running private profit motive."

The railroad labor executive, upon his arrival from Cleveland Thursday night, called for a restoration of the 1929 wage level and a six-hour day for railroad labor.

Whitney said he had no hesitancy "in saying that we are going to get the 1929 wage back" at the expiration of the agreement with the employers in June.

In declaring for complete government financing of rail lines, Whitney said financiers and managers should no longer expect "that they may dip into the public treasury to pay off debt obligations arising out of overexpanded and 'watered' capital structures and still claim the right to exploit the earnings as they choose without regard to the welfare of employees or the public."

TALMAGE ACTION SEEN IN LOCKING OF SUTTON OFFICE

veterinarian, and that while his office may be moved, Adams will go right on performing those duties.

Commissioner of Agriculture Adams said that Lindsay made a demand for the removal of the office of the agricultural department to that Dr. Sutton could have access to records of the veterinary division at any time, but that he refused the request temporarily on the advice of the council. Adams said he would refer the matter to the attorney-general.

"I am a very peaceable man," Adams said, "and I am under court orders in this affair. I shall make every effort to follow the orders of the court but I shall also insist on my legal rights."

Custodian Ignorant of Move.
M. G. Turner, custodian of the capitol, expressed ignorance of the removal of Dr. Sutton's office equipment from the capitol building, but suggested that "a little fellow" moved the office and changed the locks some time during the night."

Mystery of the removal of the equipment was solved when Tom Linder, executive secretary to the governor, revealed that the desk and files were moved, and the locks changed by Snider at the order of Governor Talmadge. Snider had declined to discuss the affair and said "it's nobody's damn business," although he admitted after Linder's statement that he had performed the chore.

Attorney Lindsay advised Sutton to stay with his desk and files "even if they are moved into the governor's office." Lindsay said that his move to include Snider as a defendant will be extended to anybody else attempting to change anything connected with the veterinary division.

"The only man we cannot reach by injunction is the governor himself. If he changes the locks with his own hands, we cannot get him into court, but we can certainly reach anybody he sends," Lindsay said.

Differences between Governor Talmadge and Dr. Sutton first developed several years ago when Talmadge was commissioner of agriculture and sought to take over control of the veterinary office and direct expenditure of its appropriation.

COTTON 'PARITY' PRICE
EXPLAINED BY BROWN

ATHENS, Ga., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Return to a "parity" or "fair share" price for cotton is the goal of the national cotton production adjustment program for 1934-1935, the success of which has been left to the farmers of the cotton belt with the beginning of the sign-up campaign this week, said Harry L. Brown, acting extension director of the University System of Georgia.

Director Brown is in charge of the AAA production activities in Georgia. In commenting on purposes of the drive he said:

"Parity price means a price which will give a bale of cotton the same buying power it had in the pre-war period, 1910-1914. In other words, a price which will make it possible to buy as much with a bale of cotton as a farmer could buy with a bale of cotton before the war."

"The relationship between the price of cotton and the price levels of other commodities is what counts. The new contract will actually make it possible for growers to cut down their production in order to lower existing surpluses and work toward 'parity' levels. And the rental and benefit payments make it possible for them to reduce production without loss of immediate income."

DEFENSE RESTS CASE
IN ADEL POOLE TRIAL

Witness Tell of Whisky
Bought, Allegedly Drunk
by Rivers.

ADEL, Ga., Jan. 4.—(AP)—After placing its last witness on the stand, the defense rested today in the trial of Douglas Poole, former Atlanta policeman, on a charge of murder for the death of Joe Pafford in an automobile accident.

Miss Bessie Henderson, a nurse who attended Miss Winona Patterson before the girl's death as a result of the same accident, read some of her testimony given at a previous trial when Poole was convicted of manslaughter in the Patterson case. It was granted a new hearing later by the supreme court.

Miss Henderson's testimony related that Miss Patterson had told her Pafford and E. D. Rivers Jr., driver of the car which collided with Poole's, had been drinking before the accident.

Another defense witness testified that Pafford and Rivers bought whisky from him on the night before the collision. Rivers denied on the stand yesterday that they had bought any liquor or that any of his party had been drinking.

The state reopened its case today with Mrs. Joe Pafford, mother of the dead youth, as the first witness. She testified that her son had been working in their store at Lakeland, Ga., until 10:30 and that she saw him in his bedroom about 12 o'clock on the night when the defense witness said the youths were buying whisky from him.

Similar testimony was offered by E. D. Rivers Sr., who said he was with his son on that same night.

The state is expected to complete its case tomorrow morning and the jury probably will begin deliberations during the afternoon.

J. J. Brown Vindicated
In Shooting of Bear

DARIEN, Ga., Jan. 4.—The case of the state vs. J. J. Brown, former commissioner of agriculture of Georgia, was called for trial Wednesday in the city court of Darien, he having been indicted by a McIntosh county grand jury for the killing of a big black bear December 1.

Mr. Brown was here on the date of the opening of the deer season, and while he was in a boat on the Altamaha river and attempted to swim across. Mr. Brown and others shot at the bear.

Attorneys for Mr. Brown argued that the river is the dividing line between McIntosh and Glynn and the grand jury erred in indicting Mr. Brown unless they knew the killing occurred in this county. Other objections to the indictment were urged, but Judge Mel Price ruled that the bear was a ferocious and dangerous animal and that it was not a violation of the laws protecting fur-bearing animals to shoot and kill it. So, Mr. Brown was vindicated.

INFLATION 'NECESSARY'
SAYS ROSS AT ATHENS

ATHENS, Ga., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Dr. A. E. Ross, of the University of Wisconsin, prominent sociologist and author, says he feels "sure it will be necessary to inflate, not necessarily by setting the printing presses to work, but maybe by devaluing the dollar."

The Wisconsin educator, in an address in the chapel of the University of Georgia today, said that the malpractice and evils which have shown up in private banking oblige us to consider whether or not some supply of credit will come about through the government in business. The government would supply applicants with credit according to rules with which everyone could get acquainted, and all wretched inside arrangements would disappear, he said.

"Some talk as if capitalism had broken down," he said.

"There is no departure from the principle of private enterprise in trying to correct abuses that show themselves under private capitalism."

"Of course, an appalling proportion of the returns of production goes to capitalists, amounting to 45 per cent in 1926, according to the federal trade commission, but by government banking, it might be possible to get the rental down to 30 per cent."

As for inflation, he said, "the amount of indebtedness in this country is about 40 per cent of the wealth and has been steadily on the increase. Since 1929 the weight of the 135 billions of debt has been increased 60 to 80 billions by appreciation in the value of money. Whether American industry can swim instead of being pulled under water by such a millstone is dubious."

He said he hoped to see "the commodity dollar," and added that no lasting good would be accomplished if the nation tried to get to a standard which would appreciate all the time.

Dr. Ross, touching upon the topic of armaments, said "we sociologists see what horrors are being prepared in the name of patriotism. We are standing for a distinction we consider more pointed, namely, social and anti-social. The whole conservation program has found favor because it is social. We are convincing people that racketeering and chiseling and bootlegging are anti-social. If we are going to swallow the munition makers and professional militarists and jingoes to determine our attitudes in the name of combative patriotism, then the world is in for a terrible bust-up."

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—An allotment of $1,250,000 to the Augusta canal commission for the construction of an important hydroelectric plant at Augusta, Ga., was announced today by Public Works Administrator Ickes.

At the same time Ickes announced a loan and grant of $11,500 for a new school building at Cedartown and $10,000 for extensions in the existing sewage system at Rockmart. The total funds allocated to the three Georgia projects amounted to $1,271,500.

Details of the three Georgia projects were explained by Administrator Ickes as follows:

"The loan and grant is for the sum of $1,250,000 to the Augusta canal commission, Augusta, for the construction of a hydroelectric plant. The approximate cost of labor and material is $972,000, of which 30 per cent is a grant. The balance is a loan secured by 4 per cent revenue bonds, in turn secured by first mortgage on the facilities to be constructed under the project, including the site of the proposed hydroelectric generating station. The allotment is subject to the following:

Loan shall be used only for the construction of the hydroelectric station and related items as set out in the construction estimate above. In the event that the interconnection agreement for firming the hydroelectric power cannot be made with the public utility company on reasonable terms, the applicant may reinstate without prejudice his application for a loan to be used for the construction of a fuel-burning auxiliary power plant and distribution system. Work can start in 30 days and be completed in 12 months, giving 225 men employment during construction."

"The loan and grant is for the sum of $11,500 to the city of Cedartown, Polk county, for the construction of a one-story, four-room addition to existing school building. The approximate cost of labor and material is $9,400, of which 30 per cent is a grant. The balance is a loan secured by 4 per cent general obligation bonds. Work can start in one month and be completed in two months, giving 20 men employment during construction."

"The loan and grant is for the sum of $10,000 to the city of Rockmart, Polk county, for use in extensions to existing sanitary sewer system. The approximate cost of labor and material is $7,200, of which 30 per cent is a grant. The balance is a loan secured by 4 per cent general obligation bonds. Work can start in one month and be completed in two months, giving 35 men employment during construction."

CHAIRMAN DECLARES

AUGUSTA, Ga., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Chairman Arthur H. Merry announced tonight the Augusta canal commission will refuse the $1,250,000 loan and grant from the public works administration for a hydro-electric canal.

When notified of the allotment, Merry said it was only half the amount necessary to construct both a hydro-electric and a standby plant, both of which he said would be necessary to assure patrons of all-time service.

In case the Savannah river, whose canal waters would furnish power from the hydro-electric plant, receded to the standby plant would be necessary as a temporary substitute, he said.

"We will not accept this money at long as we have to depend on the Georgia Power Company to furnish the standby power, and that is what it would mean," Merry said.

ATLANTA, GA., JANUARY 5, 1934.

GINNING CONTROL OF COTTON.

The proposal to control cotton production by ginning limitations, proposed in the bill to be introduced by Senator Bankhead, of Alabama, is neither new nor radical. It has been discussed for several years and is undoubtedly one of the soundest methods of control yet to be brought forward.

Proponents of the plan believe that it furnishes the surest method of effecting reduction of the cotton reaching the markets because of its comparative ease of operation, the certainty of control which it offers and the psychological effect its results would have upon the producers.

Under the ginning law a farmer could raise as much cotton as he wanted to, or as the exigencies of the growing season permitted, but the gins could handle for him only a certain specified amount of staple, this amount to be based on his average production of previous years, and to be set at a figure that would supply to the markets of the world only enough cotton to guarantee good prices.

If the farmer had produced more cotton than he would be permitted to have ginned, then the only thing left for him to do could be to haul his surplus home and store it in his barn. This piled-up cotton, the ginning-control advocates hold, would be the most powerful incentive for acreage reduction that could exist when planting time again came around.

Should the present plan of co-operative reduction of acreage by the farmers fail because of the refusal of some growers to participate, it is definitely probable that a more rigid type of forced control will be resorted to in future, and the ginning control method advocated by Senator Bankhead will undoubtedly have earnest support.

A NEEDED JUDGESHIP.

The new federal judgeship for north Georgia, sought in the bill introduced Wednesday by Representative Ramspeck, is aimed at the remedying of conditions which have badly handicapped the present court in keeping its calendar clear.

The number of cases now coming before Judge Underwood is so great that it is necessary for many of them to be held over for long periods before they can be reached. This has resulted in the keeping in jail, sometimes for months, of those accused of violating the law, and of long delays in civil suits.

Judge Underwood and the other officials of the court are in no wise responsible for these delays. The court simply has more work to do than it can handle efficiently and keep its calendar clear.

Figures presented by Representative Ramspeck show that in other sections of the country two judges are provided to handle much less business than comes before the north Georgia federal court.

Former Attorney-General Mitchell recommended several years ago that another judge be provided, and this relief was sought three years ago by Senator Harris and Representative Crisp in joint bills introduced by them in the senate and house.

In view of the urgent need of the new judgeship and of the favorable attitude of the attorney-general's department it is probable that favorable action will be taken on the Ramspeck bill, an outlook that is strengthened by the fact that Representative Tarver of the seventh district, which is included in the territory for which an additional judge is asked, is an influential member of the judicial committee to which the bill has been referred.

The new judgeship is badly needed in order that the court may speed up the handling of its criminal cases and even more so that relief may be secured from the long delays in the settlement of civil business that comes before it.

FEDERAL DEFICIT REDUCED.

The report of the condition of the federal treasury submitted to congress on the first day of the present session reveals that the deficit existing on last January 1 has been reduced by approximately a half billion dollars despite the huge expenditures this year for emergency relief.

This decrease is more remarkable in that the deficit for 1932 was created almost entirely by the expenditures for general permanent operating expenses, the extraordinary expenses amounting to $477,000,000 being paid by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, while this year's deficit includes the $1,155,000,000 spent for emergency relief.

So far as the general permanent expenses are concerned, the deficit for 1933, the treasury figures show a surplus of $2,000,000.

While it is anticipated that the extraordinary expenses will increase materially during the six months between now and the end of the fiscal year, the treasury statement is reassuring evidence that the business of the government is being far more economically conducted than in the past, and that no such huge burden of indebtedness is being piled up as claimed by the opponents of the democratic administration.

TUGWELL BILL OPPOSED.

The criticism by Al Smith, in the current issue of the New Outlook, of the so-called Tugwell bill, proposed as a substitute for the present federal pure food laws, climaxes a barrage of attacks, originating in every section of the country, and coming alike from the press and from wholesale and retail business associations.

This bill, introduced jointly in both houses of congress at the last session, is expected to come up for final disposal in the early days of the forthcoming session. In his article in the New Outlook Mr. Smith takes the position that the bill goes a long way beyond its objective of "putting teeth" in the present laws, and in effect so regulates the manufacture and sale of foods, drugs and cosmetics as to be practically confiscatory. He quotes Professor Tugwell, the author of the bill, as admitting that it is not "just reform, but a revolution in the whole theory governing this field."

The bill, if enacted into law, in the opinion of the former New York governor, would mean governmental control, instead of regulation, of the industries affected.

This opinion is shared by the Cleveland Plain Dealer, which believes the bill should be amended in fairness to the public interest. The Plain Dealer feels that the loop holes in the present law, used by some manufacturers to the public detriment, should be stopped, but holds that the Tugwell bill in seeking to effect these reforms:

Translates enthusiasm into unreason. Some of its definitions are uninterpretable. It sets up a dangerous bureaucracy. It lodges a discretion in the hands of the secretary of agriculture which, if used viciously or even carelessly, might cause gross injustice to millions of people.

Manufacturers of the various articles covered by the bill claim that they will be so handicapped as to make it impossible to continue profitably in business, and that the result will be the practical destruction of several influential industries and the throwing out of work of thousands of employees.

This is no time for the government to take action which might be followed by such results. It now seems to be the general belief that the Tugwell bill goes too far in seeking reforms that are admittedly needed, and congress in acting upon it should strip it of the provisions that are not only unreasonable but are a threat to the continued profitable existence of many of the country's largest manufacturing concerns.

A popular tune with a business-man is the one played by his cash register.

Could a hospital be called a curing plant? asks the Brunswick Pilot. Or a pill box?

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

Proletarian Progress.

A factory worker writes to "Istvestia," the official paper of the soviet government that he has a grievance. He says he has been enabled, by steady work and good wages, to buy himself an oaken cupboard with a mirror in it, an oaken table and an oaken sideboard. He likes the new furniture very much. But where, so he asks, can one buy oaken chairs in Russia? The point is not that the comrade has been buying these things, but that "Istvestia" prints his letter. It is not so long ago, it seems to us, that the Russian proletarian was curling up their lips and noses, figuratively speaking, at such bourgeois things, as ideas of comfortable homes and the like. Now, however, they are considered non-essential. It is a fast-changing Russia today. To have a comfortably home and own it, I place the emphasis on the owning, because there are many who still walk around with notions in their heads about the non-existence of private property in the soviet land, own your home is in fact one of the new slogans of the regime.

Tens of thousands of homes have been built in the last few years in the immediate neighborhood of I had occasion to notice last summer, to give the commuters an opportunity to flit up and down, from city to country, in a minimum time. The transformation in Russian life is the greatest thing of our century. It would have been even more rapid if the soviets had been able ere this to obtain credit abroad. But that is coming too. More and more countries are coming to see that Russia instead of being an enemy is a friend, which might go a long way to making it the world on the path of prosperity and well-being.

Liberals advocate recognition all along. Maybe liberals will be a little more in the future when they advocate certain measures.

Finance In France.

Events of the past few weeks have made the French public rather cautious in its judgments of those placed in charge of the nation's affairs. In the street last night I was brought to realize that no good purpose is to be served by having one government after another overthrown because of unpopularity of its feature program. There will remain, in spite of any changes of government, one bitter pill which must be swallowed. Fair words do not always succeed with sound finance, and M. Chautemps, the present prime minister, has tried to put the financial part of his program on a sound basis.

The thing which he has tried to make all Frenchmen realize is that the economic health of the country cannot be restored without sacrifice. There must be an increase in taxation and also a cutting down of expenditure, which has raised protests from all those affected. What M. Chautemps has done is to impress upon all concerned that there is no easy road. Budget figures are solid facts which must be dealt with in a practical manner. No amount of talking or maneuvering for to alter them. "Pay and economize" is the order of the day on which M. Chautemps has taken his stand. (Copyright, 1934, for The Constitution.)

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM SHADY.

THE HOSPITAL OR CLINIC OBSESSION.

Last March an editor told us here just how much it had cost her to have her third baby. Her old doctor, who charged $35 for his services—including all prenatal care, attendance in confinement and after-care. Then she had a nurse for two weeks, and a graduate nurse and a grand gal, though not registered. The nurse had the o. k. of the doctor, however. The things the doctor advised her to do for her baby cost $23.44 at the local drugstore—the editor, having brains, lives in a suburban village, commutes to her work. Her friends flooded her with gifts. She was friendly with some new articles, some cast-off outgrown by their own children—but the editor had to part with 75 cents for two shirts for the layette. She says all three of her babies have been purchased on this same, easy payment plan and she intends to stick to the system for the next three.

Good. I like to listen to that editor's talk. It acts like antitoxin. A doctor in practice can manage somehow to keep in mind the fact that the world is not so solid or so ugly as it appears to be to his professional eye. But I am conducting a health column and it sickens me to find that the most frequent question asked by those contemplating marriage or recently married is about "birth control."

The editor's report of her successful system brought in many letters about the hardships of paying for a 1933 model baby.

I gather that people take it as a hardship mainly because nobody can get out of it; it is doing it, whereas paying for the family club is not so hard because everybody's doing it.

One prospective mother who had borne two children without doctor had "Ben Told" it would go hard with her this time because she is now nearly 40. That's just one of those old traditions. So this time she decided to go to a hospital, a so-called free hospital. She says she was kept waiting three and one-half hours, then, having passed through six official hands, she was curtly informed that she must pay $65 in installments, $10 cash down, and the doctor advised her she shouldn't have the baby if finances were uncertain.

Well, why did the lady flock to the hospital or clinic along with the rest of the sheep? If she has been in America long enough to speak and write the language she ought to know that a doctor who is really good practices under his own name, not under the name of a hospital, clinic, association, corporation or institute. She ought to know, too, that these "free" or "equate" clinics and the like are rackets—schemes whereby a group of doctors who can't make a go of it in private practice and under methods of fair competition, go into a huddle, take a name that impresses the peasants, and attract a certain amount of business on the whole basis. Finally she ought to know that students, interns, tyro doctors, have to get their experience, serving as assistants or members of the staff in such institutions. These apprentices usually assume more or less of the responsibilities of physicians and surgeons, but are paid perhaps $25 a month by the institution. Likewise the probationers or pupil nurses. Is it any wonder such an institution can deliver a baby, after a fashion, at such a bargain price?

News Behind the News

By Paul Mallon.

FINALE WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Liberals thought they noted a strange undertone in Mr. Roosevelt's message to congress.

It sounded to them as if he were going conservative on them. They ran around whispering among themselves: "Is the Roosevelt revolution over?" They did not get a satisfactory answer.

There was nothing definite in the document that they could put their finger on. That was their main point. It was so unspecific as to arouse their doubts.

MOTIVE What the liberals do not realize is that all justice is not wrapped up in their philosophy. There are some good points in other philosophies, including the conservative.

At least that is the apparent theory behind Mr. Roosevelt's message. He knows he needs conservative support or acquiescence in his experiments, as well as liberal support. He cannot stop to do battle with either faction now.

The message actually disclosed nothing new. It merely continued the present trend, established when the president pulled in the horns of the NRA and the money policy.

It was an unprecedentedly friendly and cordial note to congress, which told them nothing.

CONFUSION A prominent house republican from New England recently sent letters to 100 republican businessmen in his district, asking advice about how he should act in this session of congress.

He is taking no chances on getting in trouble with his constituents.

The early replies suggested he resist any trend toward radicalism, but co-operate generally with Roosevelt. But that is beside the point.

The main idea is that it shows clearly the confusion some republicans are suffering.

LEADER The dominant man in the picture backstage is McNary, of Oregon. He is the senate leader for the minority party.

It is too early to start picking presidential candidates for 1936, but if you are inclined to make any long-shot bets, McNary is the man to back. He is the counselor of patience amidst the confusion.

When a press association was gathering comment on the political outlook a few days ago, he was the only one wise enough to say nothing. He does his talking mostly when he gets his republican friends around him. If you could listen in, you would hear him say that watchful co-operation is not only the most sensible, but also the political thing to do. He is a very practical man. He has been in the game long enough to know nothing is to be gained by starting the shouting so early—and so openly.

Issues will bob up during the session which will generate spontaneous opposition.

He is smart enough to wait for those, instead of starting opposition merely for the sake of starting opposition.

CHANCES Through the political spyglass, you can plainly see that the presidential prospects of McNary are on sound ground. It will probably do him no good to have that aired around. His competitors may start putting pins in his chair. But you can note how obvious his chances are when you call the roll of eligibles.

The next republican nominee will have to be a man who can get the west away from Roosevelt, and at the same time pacify the conservative eastern element of the party. That combination is needed to win.

All the other men mentioned now are easterners with eastern records—Mills, Snell, Wadsworth, Edge, Governor Winant. McNary's only serious western competitor, Borah, will not be a candidate. The others do not measure up. A miracle would have to happen to bring Hoover into focus.

BACKGROUND Also McNary is not labeled by any particular faction of his party. He is insulated against Coolidge and Hoover on farm relief and many other things.

He has always been personally friendly with La Follette, Norris, Hiram Johnson, the conservative Young Turks, and even the Hilles, Watson, Saunders boys. His record on legislation is just as open-minded.

GOLD Additional confirmation now is available on the inside showing the federal reserve board balked mildly on giving up their gold in their secret meeting here a few weeks ago.

They made no threats to hold back their gold if the president devalued, but suggested to him quietly that if he wants the gold, he had better get authority from congress to take it.

In other words, they will surrender their gold to the treasury when the dollar is devalued, but they want a law specifically requiring them to.

Mr. Roosevelt will accommodate them by getting a law.

CLOTHES There was a wholly different atmosphere about the opening of this session of congress.

You could notice it in many little ways. The usual starch of formality was missing. Frock coats were rare. Only five senators wore tails and even fewer members of the house. Most wore soft collars and business suits. One senator (Neely, of West Virginia) wore a yellow shirt.

People outside of Washington will not appreciate the significance of this fact, but all old-timers here will. Ordinarily, more than half the senators and a third of the representatives dress up for the opening day.

The congressmen noted the informality of the Roosevelt at the White House and desired to follow suit. They noted Mrs. Roosevelt in plain clothes sitting in the gallery with "Sittie" Dall crawling over her lap.

But when the president came in, he was all dressed up in formal attire.

NOTES Democratic leaders at the senate have passed the word along to Treasury Secretary Morgenthau that he will have a hard time getting his friend Baillie confirmed as under-secretary. The senators are planning to air Baillie's Wall Street record on South American bonds. For that reason the under-secretary job will go to some one else, probably Tom K. Smith, a St. Louis banker.

Also the White House is planning a liberal to the ICC, probably Congressman Rayburn's adviser, Splawn.

Speaker Rainey assured a press association confidentially that Mr. Roosevelt would not by any means come to congress to deliver the message in person. Which makes Rainey's batting average on predictions still zero. His prediction that there will be no stock market regulation this session will not raise his average either.

Mr. Roosevelt's speech at the Wilson dinner was written only a few hours before its delivery. They say he had not put a word on paper at 4 p. m. the day of the speech and dashed it off in a hurry before dressing for dinner. He always lets his speech go until the last possible minute, which keeps the White House staff in a fever. What if he does not finish one in time some day!

HOWDY, BOYS!

BY JOHN M. HOLMES.

Howdy, boys! Did you ever visit a large art gallery? You wander from room to room looking at the portraits, landscapes, vases and other works of art. It may be you will come to a staircase or room where there will be a rope stretched across and a sign "No Visitors Allowed." It may be in those rooms are old, dusty files, packing cases, offices, or if it is a private art collection, the rooms may be family quarters.

Your life and mine are somewhat similar to an art gallery. Each year you are hanging in your memory pictures of your acts of conduct. In these scenes are depicted the things you do in secret as well as your acts in school, in the gang, in the home, and in the city. Each year a large room is filled with these pictures and the doors of that room are sealed or kept open in accordance with the pride or the shame you may feel about your acts of the past.

What kind of scenes are you painting in your gallery? You can look up some of the old galleries of your soul and no one will ever enter them, but you can't. Some day an incident of your life will come back to you in a crowd, and the doors of these old closed galleries will be thrown open and you will be haunted again by the scenes of a past which you thought buried and forgotten.

A man once said: "I would be willing for two red-hot irons to be bored in my eyes and be blinded for life, if only I could blot out some scenes from my past."

The time may come when fear, depression, conscience, remorse will cause all the old galleries of your soul to be opened and you would give your life almost to be able to change the scenes.

It is said: "In New York state one person in ten who reaches adult life enters a mental hospital before he dies. Every year sees more than 60,000 new patients admitted to institutions for the treatment of types of mental diseases that are so severe in their manifestations that they are almost incurable. Officials cannot overlook them."

In these mental depressions and

2 CLOSED BANKS APPLY FOR LOANS

Remainder of 45 Seeking RFC Aid To Be Filed This Week.

The state banking department announced Thursday that loan applications on 21 closed Georgia banks had been completed, and filed with the liquidation division of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and that the remainder of 45 banks on which loans are sought at this time should be in the hands of the RFC by the last of the week.

Eight of the banks for which applications already have been filed are asking for loans which would pay for their depositors 100 cents on the dollar. Percentages which the loans if approved in full would pay, run high among the others.

The banks which are asking for loans which would pay 100 per cent are the Milton County Bank of Alpharetta, asking a loan of 50 per cent on top of 50 per cent already paid; the Citizens Bank of Roswell, asking 70 per cent in addition to 30 per cent already paid; the Farmers & Merchants Bank of Toccoa, asking 30 per cent in addition to 70 per cent already paid; the Merchants & Farmers Bank of Willacooche, asking 100 per cent; the Southern Banking Company of Pearson, asking 10 per cent in addition to 30 already paid; the Union Savings Bank of Augusta, asking 35 per cent in addition to 65 already paid; the Jackson Bank of Company of Jackson, asking 75 per cent in addition to 25 already paid; and the Peoples Savings Bank of Toccoa, asking 100 per cent in addition to 35 per cent already paid.

Other Applications. Other banks on which loan applications have been completed and filed, with the percentage of loan asked and the percentage already paid depositors follow:

The Bank of Unadilla, 65 per cent and 25 per cent; the American Banking Corporation, of Vienna, 40 per cent and 33.3 per cent; the Union Banking Company, of Douglas, 33 per cent and 40 per cent; the Bank of County Bank, of Lyons, 65 per cent and 25 per cent; the LaGrange Bank & Trust Company, 40 per cent and 30 per cent; the Bank of Fort Gaines, 60 per cent and 45 per cent; the Bank of Arlington, 45 per cent and 12.2 per cent; the Farmers and Merchants Bank, of Cairo, 75 per cent and 10 per cent; the Bank of Thomsville, 45 per cent and 7 per cent; the Planters' Bank, of Pavo, 50 per cent and 40 per cent; the Griffin Banking Company, 80 per cent and 10 per cent; and the Merchants and Farmers' Bank, of Boston, 17 per cent and 50 per cent.

C. B. Golsan, general agent in the banking department, is devoting his time almost exclusively to the preparation and filing of the loan applications.

Officials of the banking department said it was hoped that Ryburn G. Clay, district chairman of the RFC liquidation committee, would be able to take most, if not all, of the first batch of Georgia applications to Washington by Tuesday of next week.

On the basis of appraisals made by committees appointed by the RFC the banking department has estimated that loans for the benefit of depositors in closed Georgia banks should aggregate about $5,500,000.

They declined to give out figures at this time on the exact amount of the loans for each individual bank, saying that the figures were subject to change by officials of the RFC.

mental disorders the specters of the past play a prominent part. How wonderful then to be a boy with an opportunity of painting a clean past!

Would it not be your soul a portrait gallery of your girl friends which would be open to the public? You could take your friends around the room and show them these pictures and they would not be a stain on a picture which you had left there and you would not blush as you stood before any picture of the past.

In another room would be your diplomas and report cards. Not a dishonest stain would be on one of them. The football game won or lost would be honorably won or gloriously lost. And on into each room you could go unashamed of your past.

You are painting indecent pictures in your soul day by day. Be an artist of God.

Few moments of life can be solved by correspondence but sometimes you would rather write to a stranger in confidence about his problems than talk to an intimate friend. If any boy, parent, or teacher desires to write the author he would be glad to assist in any way possible. Address correspondence to John M. Comment at the Capital

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

Roosevelt Again Carries Program to People by Appearance Before Congress.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—President Roosevelt wanted his first annual message read and listened to by the congress as well as the country.

The decision to address a joint session in person was not a mere desire to revert to the precedent set by Woodrow Wilson. It sprang from a definite plan on the part of Mr. Roosevelt to enlist the support of the country at the very outset of the session so that congress could know what the American people think of the same message which is delivered to them.

While Mr. Roosevelt has an advantage that Mr. Wilson did not have, namely, radio broadcasting from the house chamber, the purpose motivating the war president was just the same as that governing Mr. Roosevelt's return to the personal address. It was to give an emphasis to the annual message which ordinarily it does not have.

As a rule the annual message at the start of a session is read in a perfunctory tone by the clerk of each house and the members lay it aside for reading at their convenience. There is no personal emphasis, no opportunity for the president to stress one portion or another, and certainly no indication to the member of the house or the senate as to what his colleagues may think of certain sections.

To no small extent applause and group psychology play an important part in the formation of opinion. With the president reading his message to congress, the opportunity for interaction with applause is something which is observed by the press and the country instantly just what the impression in general may be of a presidential speech.

The president hitherto would have to wait several days to find out what the country thinks about the message. By having an address given the widest publicity in the newspapers and on the air, there can be no doubt the document will be impressed on the people as no other message from the White House has been.

18 FACE CHARGES IN RACKET TRIAL

Collection of Fees by Coercion Is Laid to Chicago Defendants.

CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—(P)—An assortment of 18 labor union officials, trade association heads, alleged slugs and racketeers, an alderman, a prominent lawyer, and a federal labor mediator went on trial today for a huge racketeering conspiracy.

They were charged with collecting thousands of dollars from the cleaning and dyeing, carbonated beverages, and laundry industries. It was the first trial in the drive which State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney claimed has rid Chicago of racketeers.

Selection of the jury proceeded after defense attorneys had claimed in vain that the panel of veniremen was "hand picked."

Officials of the jury commission came forward to testify the names were drawn from both the "term" box and from a "general" box containing 15,000 names. Judge Philip J. Finnegan then ordered the jury selection to start.

The defendants were alleged to have formed outlaws labor unions and forced workers in the industries to take memberships in them. Firms in the industries allegedly were coerced into memberships in "trade associations."

Fees were set by the associations. The cost of cleaning and pressing a suit was $2 in Al Capone's day of power, compared with minimum prices of 55 and 75 cents under the NRA, and the associations allegedly collected a portion of the price as their fees.

Independent concerns purportedly were forced to join the associations by means of bombings, acid throwings, sluggings, and strikes. Union dues from workers in the industries were said by prosecutors to have been another source of revenue for the racketeers.

Originally there were 24 defendants. The six not on trial are Al Capone, in prison; Murray Humphrey, in prison; Sam Feldman, a union official, granted a separate trial, and Mortimer Cook, union official, ill.

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 4.—(P)—Informed a suit for divorce had been filed in Juarez, Mexico, in behalf of Enrico Caruso against Elena Caruso, the son of the late opera singer, was without comment today.

Caruso, who this week started his career in motion pictures, would neither deny or affirm that the suit had been filed in his behalf. However, his wife's name is Elena.

143 Gangsters Go Into Cells
As Gotham Police Raid Dives

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—(P)—One hundred and forty-three gangsters were taken into police headquarters today, herded together in a quiet all-night drive on known criminals as Commissioner John F. O'Ryan's administration began to function.

Under the glaring lights of the famous police lineup 64 of them passed, the first group taken as the police responded to their new leader's demand to "clean up or get out."

The city was excited, the underworld worried as news of the drive spread, but Commissioner O'Ryan, war-time commander of the 27th division, regarded it as routine.

"It just shows the men are on the job," said the commissioner, who had announced the department will not relax until known criminals are behind the bars or driven out of the city.

It was the biggest police drive since the regime of Commissioner Grover A. Whalen, but it lacked the Whalen touch. He always announced his drives in advance.

The drive started before midnight and lasted until dawn—police and detectives, forgetting their early morning naps, as they answered the promise by O'Ryan and Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia that there would be no political interference in police matters.

"Yes, we stepped out, all right," one detective claimed. "It's just what we want. We don't mind going out after them if we're sure we'll be backed up."

Into the speakeasies—which O'Ryan has promised to eliminate when licensing is completed—cafes, night clubs and known hangouts the police went to make arrests for offenses ranging from extortion to narcotic addiction.

Police headquarters, normally quiet in the early morning, was jammed. There were insufficient desks for the excitement was not confined to headquarters. New Yorkers, commuters and motorists bound for work in Manhattan stared in surprise at the unusual number of policemen on the streets, watching the traffic lights and keeping pedestrian traffic moving.

Gold badges were seen in evidence—police captains, lieutenants doing street duty. Formerly they were to be found only in stations. Today they were supervising three.

O'Ryan still insisted nothing unusual was happening. The police were just on the job and, he reiterated, they are going to stay on the job.

GINNERS EXECUTIVES APPROVE AGREEMENT

DALLAS, Texas, Jan. 4.—(P)—The recently drafted ginners' marketing agreement was approved today with recommendations for several minor changes by the executive committee of the National Cotton Ginners' Association at a meeting here.

G. M. Lester, of Jackson, Miss., president of the Mississippi Cotton Ginners' Association and chairman of the conference here, said the agreement had been approved by ginners' associations in all cotton-growing states except Oklahoma and Arkansas and now would be submitted to individual ginners.

Before it becomes effective, the agreement must be signed by ginners handling at least 75 per cent of the volume of ginned cotton.

STORM'S KNOWN TOLL
REDUCED TO ONLY 38

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 4.—(P)—As more than 1,000 active workers continued the search for bodies, the fluctuating death toll in the New Year's Eve flood tragedy in Los Angeles' suburbs was reduced to 38 in a coroner's report late today.

The number of persons still reported missing was pared down to 60.

Many of these, authorities believe, may be in sudden tumbles of mud, debris and rocks which clutter up the Verdugo Hill slope communities, where the flood was worst.

$1,000,000 Farm Credit Body Organized at Meeting Here

Officers of the Atlanta Production Credit Corporation, which is designed through the government to extend a credit up to $1,000,000 to farmers living within a 40-mile radius of Atlanta, were elected Thursday at a meeting held in the offices of E. S. Center Jr., agricultural agent of the Atlanta & West Point railroad.

The officers are A. L. Wooten, president, of Jonesboro; Bernard A. Grey, vice president, Marietta, and E. S. Cook, Norcross, secretary-treasurer. Following the meeting, Hiram L. Gardner, vice president of the Production Credit Corporation, of Columbia, presented the charter to Mr. Wooten.

Mr. Gardner, a former Georgian and secretary of the state democratic executive committee, came to Atlanta to attend the meeting.

The Atlanta organization will be a unit of the farm credit administration formed under an act of 1933 with a capital of $7,500,000. Its purpose is to furnish initial capital for, and supervising the operations of, production credit associations in convenient territory to finance the production needs of agriculture.

One hundred and fifteen of these units have been formed in the third district comprising the Carolinas, Georgia and Florida, and 34 are operating in Georgia. The farm credit administration will supply the Atlanta organization an initial capital of $200,000 which will provide a lending capacity of $750,000 to $1,000,000.

It will serve farmers in the following counties: Fulton, DeKalb, Gwinnett, Rockdale, Henry, Butts, Spalding, Coweta, Fayette, Clayton, Cobb, Douglas and Paulding. Offices will be selected in the next 10 days and operations started.

Farmers will be advanced money for the production of crops, and will give their notes for it at 6 per cent. These notes will be discounted with another unit known as the Federal Intermediate Credit bank of Columbia, in the stock of the association as collateral. The bank will float debentures or bonds and sell them in the open market.

Mr. Gardner said that this measure was not an emergency one, but would be permanent financial relief for American agriculture.

General Electric Influence in Lamp Industry Bared at Hearing.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—(P)—Under the eye of congress, NRA embarked today on a new program for protection of small industries linked by codes with big competitors, inquiring first into complaints against the General Electric and United States Playing Card Company.

Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, meanwhile introduced a measure to restore anti-trust penalties waived by the recovery act.

General Hugh S. Johnson promised Senator Nye, republican, North Dakota, he would act in code difficulties between small manufacturers of playing cards and their dominant competitor, the United States Playing Card Company, which Nye said was refusing to co-operate.

The senator told newspapermen he believed these two instances would determine future NRA policy on all questions of monopolistic practices.

The electrical code hearing centered on proposed amendments which would, if approved, give the regulating committee of the industry power to fix the prices of individual manufacturers, and would make other changes in the pact which, in effect, since last summer, already has drawn such protests from small manufacturers that Senator Nye's hearing on the subject decided to inquire into the complete code structure.

Principal opposition had come from the Independent Electric Lamp Manufacturers' Association, which demanded a separate code for its members' product so as to reduce the preponderant influence of a "dominating concern" uniformly identified as the General Electric Company.

Before the hearing was over, the General Electric Company issued a public statement saying that the primary purpose of the independents in demanding a supplementary code for the lamp industry "is to compel the General Electric Company to grant them a license under its patents."

FIVE NEGROES HELD AS ROBBERY SUSPECTS

Believed by detectives to be the nucleus of a gang of negro holdup men who have terrorized the city during the last few weeks, five negroes were arrested late Thursday and held on suspicion after one had confessed to the robbery of a furniture store and implicated two others of those arrested.

Frank Williams, according to police records, confessed that he assisted in the holdup and robbery of the Wiggins Furniture Company, 335 Peters street, on January 1, and named John Carter and Willie James Price as his confederates.

Williams said they obtained $73 at the point of two pistols, but officials of the furniture store reported a loss of $125.

Others arrested and held on suspicion were Richard Smith, 23, of 763 Welch street, and James Thomas, also of a Welch street address. Smith was an employee of the furniture store and detectives said he confessed that he knew of the planned robbery and gave necessary information for criminal maneuvers.

The arrests were made by Detectives H. C. Newton, P. H. Jones, D. L. Taylor and W. B. Martin. A number of guns and knives were found in the homes of the negroes after they had been arrested in a Decatur street theater, where they had met to divide the money of several holdups, detectives said.

The gang was believed to be the same that held up and robbed S. H. Tessler, grocer, 540 Markham street, of his store on Thursday morning, and just a few minutes later the store of Ben Taratoot, 544 West Mitchell street, of $10. All were heavily armed.

Burglars also raided the armory of Fulton High school at Washington street and Woodward avenue sometime Wednesday night and took 6,000 rounds of ammunition, two .45-caliber pistols, and a quantity of service shirts and several Yale padlocks. Before leaving the premises the marauders smashed connections on the boilers which heat the school plant.

R. B. Cumby, of 467 Windsor street, reported that burglars entered his residence sometime Wednesday night and took $9 in cash, an overcoat, a suit of clothing and a hat.

Maynard Key, employed by an oil company at 105 Houston street, reported to police Thursday night that a negro held him up at the point of a pistol and robbed him of $45.61.

Lewis Coleman, residing at 409 Eighth street, N. E., reported that a burglar entered his apartment while the family was away Thursday and took a diamond bar pin.

Andorra Now Boasts
Army of 12 Men

ANDORRA, Jan. 4.—(P)—"Touch me if you dare" is to be the slogan of Andorra's new standing army—12 starting units of it, six citizens and six men.

What caused this miniature self-governing state in the Pyrenees to look to its defenses is not known; but, anyway, the plans are all made and would-be invaders may govern themselves accordingly.

The standing force will be supplemented by a militia. Every able-bodied male will be required to join, subject to call in case of war.

Flint lock rifles will be standard equipment.

The ancient Andorran slogan, "Touch me," etc., will be inscribed on buttons the soldiers will wear.

Andorra has an area of 191 square miles. Its 5,231 citizens live in six villages. It is under the joint suzerainty of the French state and the Spanish bishops of Urgel.

NATIVE OF RUSSIA, WIFE FEATURED AT REVIVAL HERE

An "old-fashioned revival" is in progress at Grant Park Methodist church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. B. F. Fraser. The meeting is said to be growing in both interest and attendance, much of which is attributed to Mr. and Mrs. V. G. Oseppoff, who have charge of the musical part of the revival.

Mr. Oseppoff is a native of Russia, emigrating to China during the late war. While in China he was converted to the Methodist faith and decided to enter evangelistic work. He came to the United States in 1927, entering Young Harris College. After spending two years as a student at Young Harris, he went to Wilmore College, in Kentucky, where he met his wife. Each of the pair is versatile. Mrs. Oseppoff being an accomplished pianist and harpist, while her husband plays the violin. Mr. Oseppoff is now completing his education at Emory University. He contemplates becoming a missionary to Russia upon graduation.

Services at the church are held at 7:30 o'clock each night with preaching by the choir under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Oseppoff. The revival will close Sunday, January 14.

Of the 3,680 homeless and hungry dogs and cats brought to the society, 366 were placed in good homes. Over a thousand horses and mules received attention for being overworked or underfed.

Ambulance charges of 25 cents for calls within the city and 50 cents for calls outside the city limits were also decided upon at the meeting of the society Wednesday afternoon. J. P. McGrath, re-elected president, said that the Community Chest appropriation to the society would probably be reduced 40 per cent this year as it was last.

Other officers elected include Mrs. Stacy Earnest Hill and Mrs. J. P. Stevens, vice presidents; Mrs. W. E. Loepsch, recording secretary, and W. W. Lyon, treasurer.

Martyr Girl's Lover Arrested in Death

NORTH WILKESBORO, N. C., Jan. 4.—(P)—Solicitor John R. Jones announced here tonight that Andrew Smoot, described as the sweetheart of 18-year-old Leta Childress, had been arrested at Schoolfield, Va., in connection with the girl's death.

At the same time, Solicitor Jones said that a three-day investigation of the strange case had convinced him that the girl had been slain, and that it would have been impossible for her to have taken her own life.

A warrant was sworn out for Smoot's arrest, the solicitor said, after investigators had uncovered evidence indicating that he had visited the girl the day of her death, after she had agreed to see him for a final time before breaking off their relationship because of Smoot's refusal to obtain a divorce from his estranged wife.

supervision over such outlays and had given to the sharp eyes of Comptroller General McCarthy the responsibility of auditing them.

A total lack of reference to new taxation, combined with optimistic phrases as to the business outlook, encouraged Wall Street to a rally which transmitted itself to the grain pits. Of the future, the chief executive said:

"It is evident to me, as I am sure it is evident to you, that powerful forces for recovery exist. It is by laying a foundation of confidence in the present and faith in the future that the upturn which we have so far seen will become cumulative. The cornerstone of this foundation is the good credit of the government."

Profound Effect.
"It is, therefore, not strange nor is it academic that this credit has a profound effect upon the confidence so necessary to permit the new recovery to develop into maturity."

"If we maintain the course I have outlined, we can confidently look forward to cumulative beneficial forces represented by increased volume of business, more general profit, greater employment, a diminution of relief expenditures, larger governmental receipts and repayments and greater human happiness."

Members of house and senate were quick to offer their views on the president's message as soon as it had been read to the two houses by their reading clerks, a desultory performance, which found the members chatting with each other generally and a few following the printed text with which they had been supplied.

Speaker Rainey called the expected deficit for this fiscal year, $7,309,000,000, "startling indeed," but he added that "there is nothing so alarming about an increase of five to six billions more in the national debt when the normal national income is around $78,000,000,000."

Representative Snell, of New York, the republican floor leader, expressed himself as "overcome and shocked" and said it would take him several days to catch his breath.

At the senate wing of the capital, Robinson, of Arkansas, the democratic leader, said the "frankness of the message" commended it and that "anyone familiar with the extraordinary expenditures of the government must have anticipated" the existence of a large deficit.

The republican leader, McNary, of Oregon, said the sums proposed by the president were the "largest in peace-time and we will have to slow down in the process of spending or we will never come back in earnings."

WALL STREET RECOVERS FROM INITIAL SURPRISE

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Wall Street received a monetary jolt today as it read President Roosevelt's budget message, calling for $6,000,000,000 in new borrowing and $4,000,000,000 in refunding in the next six months.

News of plans for federal financing on such a vast scale—coming close to the magnitude of the Liberty loan period—touched off a temporary selling flurry in United States government bonds in the stock exchange.

As financial quarters digested the budget message, however, it was decided that the president had stated the problem in the boldest, frankest terms, using maximum or outside figures, rather than trying to estimate. As the day wore on, federal bonds partially recovered in the stock exchange.

Some quarters in Wall Street said the budget, while somewhat startling, was refreshing in that there seemed to be no inclination to minimize the magnitude of the prospective deficit or the probable borrowing requirements. These quarters found this aspect of the budget particularly encouraging, after the succession of underestimates of recent years.

A number of banks and leading bond dealers canvassed said there was little doubt that the $6,000,000,000 of new government borrowings in the next six months could be absorbed through regular investment channels, and probably would not require any such sales campaigns as those involved by the Liberty loan flotations. It was explained that $4,000,000,000 of refunding would merely replace obligations already outstanding.

Spending of Billion a Month Revealed in Treasury Report

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Government spending for more than a billion dollars a month for the first half of 1934 and a new peak in the national debt was forecast today in the treasury's annual report to congress.

The report was in the name of William H. Woodin, as secretary, having been prepared before President Roosevelt on New Year's Day named Henry Morgenthau Jr. to the cabinet post.

It estimated emergency recovery costs alone would be $6,357,486,700 during the fiscal year that ends June 30, and general expenses $3,533,691,767, for a total federal outlay of $9,891,178,467 and an operating deficit of $6,831,239,711.

The treasury figures, prepared before final completion of the budget did not include extra-budget requests of President Roosevelt for $1,666,000,000 in the current year and $2,000,000,000 for 1935. These amounts would increase expenditures, deficits and public debt totals accordingly.

Over Previous High.
Woodin predicted a public debt at the fiscal year-end of $28,679,969,728 as compared with $22,538,672,500 last June. The previous debt high, a result of war costs, was $25,484,506,000 in 1919. The post-war low was $16,185,309,000 in 1930.

For the fiscal year of 1935, the treasury foresaw a return to a pay-as-you-go basis for both general and emergency expenditures, with the latter dropping to $223,286,500.

The operating deficit for 1935 was estimated at $311,897,021, a figure smaller than the sinking fund requirement of $312,000,000. The deficit of $15,477,708 reduction in the public debt.

It was estimated that the government would spend nearly three times as much in the six months from now.

COPELAND OFFERS FOOD, DRUGS BILL

Measure to Supplant Tugwell Draft Meets Many Objections.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—(UP)—Senator Copeland, democrat, New York, introduced in the senate today a revised food and drugs bill, supplanting the much-criticized Tugwell bill with a measure which meets many of the objections of the manufacturers and publishers to the original measure.

The new bill limits the extreme powers given the secretary of agriculture in the Tugwell draft and sets up a committee on health and a committee on food to share the power to regulate the food and drugs trade which lay in the first draft was left entirely in the secretary's hands.

The new draft also modifies the extreme clauses of the original bill regarding medicines which are palliatives but not cures for special diseases; provides for the protection of patented formulas; rewords the liability of publishers of radio broadcasters who disseminate false advertising; and provides for protection of food or drug manufacturers by injunction, against unreasonable or capricious regulations.

Powers Increased.
The Tugwell bill gave to the secretary of agriculture powers criticized by some observers as dictatorial. Alone, subject only to review by congress, he could impose regulations for food and drugs or barred particular items from the market.

The most important change in the new bill is the provision of the committee on public health and food, each of five members appointed by the president. Regulations designed by the secretary must be submitted to that committee for approval.

The original bill provided that any publisher, advertising agency or radio broadcaster who disseminated false advertising should be guilty of violation of the law. The new bill provides that no publisher, advertising agency or radio broadcaster shall be guilty of advertising by dissemination of false advertising unless he has been given a reasonable request for the address of the advertiser he shall then be subject to the penalties of the law.

Label Provisions.
The original bill provided regarding the branding of drugs, that any person who used any particular false or ambiguous or inference create a misleading impression. The new draft provides simply that labeling must not be false or misleading in any particular.

The revised draft requires that if the label carried the name of any disease for which the drug was not a specific cure, it must bear the statement that it was not a cure. The new draft requires merely a conspicuous statement that the drug is not a cure for the disease.

The revised draft requires that the drug label contain no statement "contrary to the general agreement of medical opinion." The new bill requires that the label contain no statement "contrary to the general agreement of medical opinion."

The revised draft inserts new strict regulation regarding foods for children and infants. The new bill requires that the label contain no statement "contrary to the general agreement of medical opinion."

President's Budget Message Outlines Long-Time Plan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's message transmitting the budget to congress today follows textually:

To the congress of the United States:
I transmit herewith the budget for the year ending June 30, 1935. It contains also estimates of receipts and expenditures for the current year ending June 30, 1934, and includes statements of the financial operations or status of all government agencies, including the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The estimates herein given and included in the budget have to do with general and special funds—the government's money. They do not relate to trust and contributed funds, which are not government money, except where expressly referred to as such.

In my annual message to the congress I have already summarized the problems presented by the depression, the paralyzed condition which affected the banking system, business, agriculture, transportation, and indeed, the whole orderly continuation of the nation's social and economic system.

I have outlined the steps taken since last March for the resumption of normal activities and the restoration of the credit of the government. Of necessity these many measures have caused spending by the government in excess of the income of the government.

The results of expenditures already made show themselves in concrete terms in better prices for farm commodities, in renewed business activity, in increased employment, in reopening of and restored confidence in banks, and in well-organized relief.

Current Fiscal Year
(Ending June 30, 1934.)
Exclusion of debt retirement of $488,174,500 for this year, budget estimates of expenditures, including operating expenses of the regular government establishments and also all expenditures which may be broadly classified as caused by the necessity for recovery from the depression will amount this year (ending June 30, 1934) to $9,403,006,967.

This total falls in broad terms into the following classifications:

Larger Funds Urged For Navy by F. D. R.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—(AP)—The navy was dealt with seriously in both ships and men by President Roosevelt today in asking funds for the service in his annual budget.

The president asked congress to appropriate $53,819,334 for new vessels and continued work upon those already authorized, an increase of $1,622,927 over such authorized obligations during the 1934 fiscal year.

In general this would permit continuation of work on 15 vessels now being constructed with regular appropriations and the laying down of the last of the planned 7,000-ton eight-inch gun cruisers next January. In addition the construction of 33,000 tons of six-inch gun cruisers could go forward.

changes in the income tax law, which may amount to as much as $150,000,000 for a full year.

The estimates for the postoffice department are predicated upon a continuation of the 3-cent postal rate for nonlocal mail. It is highly important that this rate be continued. I recommend its continuance.

Economy Legislation

The estimates of appropriations submitted in the budget are predicated upon the continuation of certain economy legislative provisions which I ask to be enacted and which are appended hereto. The most important is that having to do with reduction of compensation of federal employees.

It is eminently fair that, the cost of living having fallen as compared with 1922, the employees of the government sustain some reduction in compensation. This is not inconsistent with our policy of advocating an increase of wages in industry.

For wages there had fallen far beyond any reduction contemplated for federal employees and in most grades are even now substantially below compensation of the private sector. The maximum reduction of 15 per cent.

Among the legislative provisions appended hereto is one prohibiting automatic increases in compensation except in the army, navy and marine corps. The personnel of these three services are engaged in a life service to their country. Some, by reason of the pay freezes, have sustained a reduction in compensation of more than 25 per cent. They are, therefore, in a different category from those in other governmental agencies. They should, in 1935, be released from the restrictions on automatic increases in compensation.

Control

Up to now there has been no coordinated control over emergency expenditures. Today, by executive order, I have imposed that necessary control in the bureau of the budget. Heretofore, emergency expenditures have been subject to audit by the comptroller general and the general accounting office. Today I am, by executive order, reposing in him the authority to conduct such an audit and to continue to audit each expenditure. Hereafter, therefore, just as in the departmental expenditures, there will be, in emergency expenditures, a pre-budget and a post-audit.

By reason of the fact that the bureau of the budget has had no control in the past over the various expenditures, the emergency expenditures made by the emergency organizations, the task of preparing the present budget has been the most difficult one since the budgetary system was set up. I have established.

It is evident to me, as I am sure it is evident to you, that powerful forces for recovery exist. It is by laying a foundation of confidence in the present and faith in the future that the upturn which we have so far seen will become cumulative. The cornerstone of this foundation is the good credit of the government.

It is, therefore, not strange nor is it academic that this credit has a profound effect upon the confidence so necessary to permit the new recovery to develop into maturity.

If we maintain the course I have outlined, we can confidently look forward to cumulative beneficial forces represented by increased volume of business, more general profit, greater employment, a diminution of relief expenditures, larger governmental receipts and repayments, and greater human happiness.

MAYOR DEFENDS GRADY CHAIRMAN

Enters Controversy Over Confirmation of Dobbs; Hospital Report Issued.

Mayor James L. Key Thursday entered the controversy over confirmation of Samuel C. Dobbs, chairman of the Grady board, who has resigned, and Arthur L. Harris, member of the Grady trustees for the first time in a strong defense of Dobbs and another trustee to Harris, who has resigned.

Key's defense of the board chairman came as the Grady board released its annual report showing marked improvements of virtually all services, a decrease in the death rate and increase in the patient load, all of which was done for less money than in recent years.

It came also as additional pressure was being placed on Harris to have him change his mind regarding his withdrawal from the service of Grady, for as Councilman Joseph E. Berman, one of the council members, who aided in preventing confirmation of the nominations at Tuesday's meeting of council, released a statement stating Dobbs and Harris.

Berman contended his entry into the council fray Tuesday night was for the purpose of investigating the feasibility of abolishing the entire Grady board, but it was not a fight against Dobbs or Harris, whom he lauded in a formal statement.

Dobbs lauded.

"Mr. Dobbs has given unstintingly of his time and talents for the benefit of the poor, sick people of Atlanta," Key said. "He has done a work which few men in Atlanta could have done. He has given himself with a zeal seldom equaled. His service could not be duplicated for any amount of money, because such devotion and zeal can not be bought."

"I have nominated him for a new term. I know Grady will be in good hands if it is placed in the care of those estimable gentlemen, whom I have nominated to council. I know that the sick people of Atlanta will get every attention and every facility available for the money we can devote to Grady, under their direction. That was what impelled me to nominate them. I hope they are confirmed."

Berman pointed out that Harris did not withdraw his name from the nomination in his letter to the mayor Wednesday, and that his name is still before the council. "He is just as much a nominee under a strict interpretation of the law, as Mr. Dobbs. I hope he will leave his name before council."

Citing an operation cost at Grady of $480,126 for 1933, the Grady report released Thursday cited the fact that the death rate had been reduced to 2.22 per 1,000 patients for the year, as against 6.24 a 1,000 patients for 1932, when the cost of operation, $525,892. Expenses of the hospital have decreased steadily since 1930, when it was $532,690.

Red patients, emergency cases and day clinic attendance increased from 77,138 in 1932 to 91,408 in 1933, the report showed. In 1933 the figure was 68,475. Patients increased 88 per cent in the past three years, with a decrease of 8.7 per cent in operation costs.

Special attention was given the heart clinic and the newly acquired electro-cardiograph, donated through Harris by the heirs of the late Jacob Elman. It showed that after eight months' operation, the average attendance of patients is 60 a week, with a resulting reduction of 30 per cent in the number of hospital days for heart patients.

2,215 Major Operations.

There were 2,215 major operations and 3,841 minor operations, or a total of 6,055 for the year, which was 676 less than in 1932.

The report praises the official personnel, the medical and visiting staffs, and employees of the institution. Many improvements are listed also.

Herman said he was not fighting the re-nomination of Dobbs or Harris.

"I thought we should consider seriously abolition of the entire board and assuming jurisdiction of the institution again," Herman asserted in a lengthy statement. "The board was appointed to straighten out a badly disorganized organization. It did a good job, and with its affairs being smoothly again, I thought we should consider whether we should take over management of the institution. If we do not do that, I think council should confirm the nominations of both Mr. Dobbs and Mr. Harris. They have performed their duties in an exceedingly commendable manner and deserve the thanks not only of the mayor and council, but of the entire city of Atlanta."

Cuba Will Restore Mills to Americans

HAVANA, Jan. 4.—(P)—The Ramon Grau San Martin government tonight prepared to return to the Cuban American Sugar Company, an American corporation, the Chaparra and Delicias sugar mill properties in Oriente province it confiscated two weeks ago.

A decree providing for turning back the mills, and certain affiliated properties, was being prepared today. Secretary of Agriculture Carlos Hovía said he expected the president would sign it before the end of the week.

I. C. C. FINDS RAILS IN BETTER SHAPE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—(P)—The railroad survey found by the interstate commerce commission in its annual report today to be in a better condition than a year ago.

A document covering the year ending December 1, the commission found the carriers' business improving, with operating costs reduced and conditions in general on the upgrade.

Only one recommendation for legislation was made. All others were left until such time as Joseph B. Eastman, federal co-ordinator of transportation, completes his study of the railroads. Then, the commission said, it will publish its comments.

The lone recommendation was that the 1920 transportation act be tightened to prevent special favor being granted shippers who send freight from one foreign country to another over American railroads.

Change in 1920.

Prior to 1920 the commission could control such shipments while in the United States. By the wording of the 1920 transportation act, however, it is said that a shipper—in Canada for instance—sending goods to Mexico for example—across the United States, can be given favors without running afoul of the Elkins anti-railroad act or similar laws.

"An important feature of railway recovery, said the commission's report, is a well-balanced adjustment of railway charges, railway wages and the general price level. We had occasion to consider the relation of prices of commodities and railway freight rates in the general rate level investigation of 1933.

The evidence showed that while the rate level was high compared with the price level, it was impossible to require them to be brought together by a general rate reduction.

"Nevertheless, by force of competition, carriers are voluntarily making reductions in rates and fares. It is obviously not desirable to restrict this competition insofar as it is conducted on a fair basis.

"However, before such a condition of fair competition can be said to exist, it will be necessary that the various transport agencies pay the same rates of wages for comparable skill, render reliable service on a non-discriminatory basis and bear an equal tax burden.

"The federal co-ordinator of transportation has these subjects under investigation and his recommendations when received will be transmitted by us to the president and to congress with our comments."

The commission this year found itself without one of its favorite recommendations for years past—the repeal of the recapture clause of the 1920 transportation act. This was abolished at the special session of congress when the emergency railroad law was passed.

Douglas Fairbanks Faces U. S. Tax Suit

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 4.—(P)—Hollywood film celebrities who have been plagued both by divorce and income tax troubles today counted Douglas Fairbanks, former swash-buckling hero of the screen, as one of their number.

When Fairbanks returns here March 1 to defend himself in a divorce suit brought by Mary Pickford he will face also a civil suit to be filed by the federal government seeking the recovery of approximately $72,000, which will be charged as erroneously and illegally given on refunds on income tax payments.

United States District Attorney Plesner M. Hall said today he had received authorization from Attorney General Homer S. Cummings to file the suit. The government will ask the return of money refunded during the years 1927, 1928 and 1929, plus interest amounting to over $10,000.

The suit against Fairbanks is to be based, Hall stated, on a re-examination of the actual value of $4,000,000 worth of stock in the Elton Corporation which Fairbanks received in exchange for rights in certain motion pictures. The actor, Hall declared, refused to honor a demand from the government for the return of the refunds.

FULTON MEETINGS FIXED TO DISCUSS COTTON PROGRAM

Meetings for discussion of the 1934-1935 cotton reduction program are scheduled to be held at 19 Fulton county locations from January 5 to 10, according to S. D. Truitt, county farm agent, who stated that the meetings are a part of a campaign now in progress for arriving at parity prices in cotton.

Truitt explained that the goal of the campaign is bringing about such prices as will insure a bale of cotton today bringing a price which would enable the seller to purchase commodities which during the war were equal in value to the then value of a bale. Truitt said Thursday that Fulton county farmers received $90,000 from the federal government as a result of the cotton reduction plan last year. He urges all cotton growers to attend the meetings scheduled, which are:

Atlanta Man, 40, Ends Life in Home

A coroner's jury Thursday afternoon returned a verdict of suicide in the case of W. Prater Cook, 40, of 443 East Lake drive, who was found dead in bed Thursday morning of a self-inflicted bullet wound in the head.

Cook, operator of a golf driving range at Ponce de Leon avenue and Glen Iris drive, shot himself while his wife was taking their nine-year-old daughter, Evelyn, to school. Mrs. Cook said she returned to find her husband dead and a gun near by. No reason was given for his act and no letters were discovered. The inquest, conducted by Coroner Thompson, of DeKalb county, was held at the establishment of Awtry & Lowndes, who will announce the funeral arrangements. He is also survived by his mother, Mrs. W. N. Howell, of Decatur, and a sister, Mrs. M. E. Blackwell, also of Decatur.

Southeastern Hotel Exposition To Be Held Here January 18-20

Outstanding figures in the hotel industry will have prominent places on the program of the annual Southeastern Hotel Exposition, to be held in Atlanta on January 18, 19 and 20, at the Piedmont hotel, according to L. O. Moseley, president of the Georgia Hotel Association, which holds its annual meeting in conjunction with the three-day session.

More than two score exhibitors will have space in the huge ballroom of the Piedmont hotel, where practically everything used in the hotel business will be displayed, it was said, including some of the largest manufacturers of furnishings and supplies, as well as foodstuffs in the United States. Those in charge of the affair state that between 1,500 and 2,000 hotel men and women will attend from the 13 southern states, and point out that more than 1,000 attended last year.

The three-day meeting will be featured, President Moseley stated, by the meeting on the second day of the southern group, comprising the 13 southeastern states. Arthur Landstreet, of Pensacola, chairman of this group, will preside, and Walter Gregory, member of the National Code Authority, W. C. Royer, also a member of the Authority and a former Atlantan, and Hon. E. B. Dickey, NIRA deputy administrator, will be principal speakers. Hotel operators throughout the country are vitally interested in the code which went into effect January 1, 1934, and an opportunity to meet with each other as well as to hear notables discuss the hotel problems and code ramifications is expected to greatly augment the usual fine interest in this year's meeting and exposition, local leaders point out.

"We are certain to have the largest array of exhibits and the finest variety we've ever had," President Moseley stated, "and the fact that the meeting of the southern states' group will be held here in connection with our own state association simply means that Atlanta will be host to several hundred hotel operators from the entire south. We are glad to have them, and believe that, aside from hearing the leaders in our industry discuss the code and its complex problems, the exhibits will prove interesting in every way."

"An elaborate entertainment program from both exhibitors and visiting hotel men and women is being worked out by a committee of the Atlanta Hotel Association," Mr. Moseley continued, "and we are going to entertain our friends the full three days."

Stephen Styron, secretary of the Georgia association, is working with Mr. Moseley and other hotel men in planning for the exposition and gathering of southern hotel operators. Offices have been established on the mezzanine floor, where Mr. Styron may be reached by those interested in the forthcoming event.

COCOONS.

Now that the leaves are off the trees, you have an opportunity of gathering a number of cocoons. A few dry leaves of certain trees cling during the winter, but there is every possibility that what appears at first sight to be a leaf is really the winter stage of the life cycle of a moth.

Perhaps the sort most often found is that of the Polyphemus moth. This large species has a wingspread of over four inches, and once in a while there is found a specimen a full inch larger. The moth itself is a beautiful creature, predominantly brown in color, with delicate tracery of blue, tan, and even pink symmetrically distributed over the wings. The cocoon of this moth is egg-shaped, so to speak, and the silk fibers are impregnated with a cementing substance, the chemical nature of which I do not know. Generally there is a complete shroud of leaves over the cocoon, adhering to it by this same adhesive. There are a few strands of silk woven about the twig itself so that the cocoon does not fall to the ground.

There is another species of both the cocoon of which remains attached to twigs during the winter. It is known as the spice bush silk moth, or the Prometheus moth. The males and females are widely different in color, demonstrating what is called "sexual dichromatism" in zoological circles. This cocoon I have found many times attached to the small sassafras bushes along the roadside. They are long and thin compared with the Polyphemus cocoon, and are gray in color, without the cementing fluid which has prevented the use of Polyphemus cocoons for silk.

Perhaps the bulkiest cocoon of all is that of the Cecropia. I have had magnificent specimens of this cocoon in my time, one of which was a full eight inches in length and nearly 10 in circumference. The Cecropia, by the way, is also the largest of the moths that make cocoons.

What moths do not? Why the famous yellow emperor does not, nor does the beautiful regal. These two moths pupate under ground, and only by accident are their pupae discovered. In this point they are similar to the sphinx or humming bird moths, whose pupae are often found in the garden.

Those of you given to strolling in the woods have an opportunity of finding numbers of cocoons this winter. You need not go out after the Polyphemus cocoon, for it occurs on every street in the city that has any tree-line at all. I have found a few of them around the state capitol, for example, without looking for them especially.

Take a few of the cocoons home, but remember that they are made to stand the weather, and that the unaccustomed high heat at the winter season will kill the specimens. Keep them in the weather, no matter if mist freeze over them, they will live. And I can promise you who have never seen the emergence of a moth, and the growth of its wings one of the most magnificent spectacles you have ever witnessed. Just wait until spring.

The Cook's FRUIT COMBINED WITH MEAT DISH IN SPECIAL MEAL

(Miss Ruth Chambers, whose articles are a daily feature of this paper, is a home economics lecturer and writer of wide experience. She is a member of the staff of the National Live Stock and Meat Board, has done considerable work in experimental cookery and is a dietitian of note.—Editor.)

By RUTH CHAMBERS.

Have you ever wished to serve some extra-special dish for a gala occasion, to entertain your choicest guests, to celebrate an anniversary or just because you felt an urge to "step out" in a culinary way? Not only do you want your dinner to taste delicious, but you want it to look especially nice, something a little different from the kind of roast or steak you've ordered served so many times.

This "dressy" appearance, as well as new and delicious flavoring, may be achieved by the use of fruit in the main dish. Fruit may be combined with meat in many ways, and from a dietetic, as well as a decorative standpoint, the union is a happy one. The Chinese learned about that a great many years ago.

Oranges with roast pork, cranberries with ribs of beef, apples and pork chops, pears and leg of veal, mint apples and leg of lamb, bananas and steak, these are a few of the possible combinations, and here are recipes.

Roast Pork With Sweet Potato Oranges.

1 pork loin, 6 oranges, uniform in size, 6 sweet potatoes, 6 marshmallows, butter, flour, salt, pepper.

Have a loin of pork prepared at the market with the chine bone sawed loose from the ribs. Wipe the meat with a damp cloth, dredge with flour and season with salt and pepper. If you have a meat thermometer, insert it so that the bulb reaches the center of the roast. Place roast on a rack in an uncovered roasting pan. Sear for 15 minutes in a hot oven (450 degrees F.). Reduce the temperature to 325 degrees F., and continue cooking until the roast is done. (When the meat thermometer registers 185 degrees F. the roast is done.) Allow 30 minutes per pound for roasting.

Cut a slice off the top of the oranges and scoop out the pulp. Season the edges with a sharp knife. Pare and boil sweet potatoes. Mash. Mix with some of the orange pulp, season with salt, pepper and butter. Fill the orange cups with this mixture and place in the oven to heat. Two or three minutes before serving remove from the oven, top each orange with a marshmallow and put back in the oven to puff and slightly brown the marshmallows. Serve orange cups around roast pork on a large platter.

Roast Leg of Veal With Stuffed Pears.

1 leg veal, 6 pears pared; 1 package cream cheese, 1 teaspoon paprika, salt, pepper.

Wipe the veal carefully. Rub with salt and pepper and place on rack in roasting pan with the skin side up. Insert meat thermometer so that the bulb reaches the center of the fleshiest part of the muscle, taking care that it does not touch fat or bone. Place in a very hot oven previously heated to 500 degrees F. and sear without covering for 15 or 20 minutes. At the end of this time reduce the temperature rapidly to 250 degrees F. Cover the roaster and continue cooking until the roast is done. When the meat thermometer registers 190 degrees F. the roast is well done. Allow 25 minutes per pound. Do not add water.

Work paprika well into the cheese. Form into balls and place in the center of the pear halves. Place around the roast a few minutes before it is done. When the cheese melts, remove and serve around the roast.

Broiled Steak With Bananas.

1 sirloin steak, 4 bananas, butter, paprika, salt, pepper.

Have the steak cut from 1 to 2 inches thick. Preheat the broiler for several minutes, having the regulator set at 500 degrees F. Place the steak on the center of the broiler rack so that there is a distance of about three inches between the flame and the top of the steak. When the steak is nicely browned on one side, turn and brown the other. The steak will be done when the second side is browned. Only one turning is necessary. For a 2-inch steak, allow 35 to 40 minutes to be medium done.

Cut bananas into slices and brown in butter until a golden brown. Serve around the steak.

Pork Chops and Rose Apples.

6 large pork chops, 1 egg, 1 tablespoon milk, 3 tablespoons fat, bread crumbs, sifted; 3 large tart apples, 1 cup sugar, 1/2 cup water, 1/2 cup red cinnamon candies, salt and pepper.

Have the bones removed from the chops and trim into neat rounds. Dip each in egg beaten with milk, then into a fine dry bread crumbs. Brown in a frying-pan about 10 minutes.

W. H. TERRELL RITES WILL BE HELD TODAY

Funeral services for W. H. Terrell, 68, widely known Atlanta attorney and former councilman and member of the board of education, will be held at 11 o'clock this morning at Spring Hill, and the Rev. Y. A. Oliver will officiate.

Mr. Terrell died Wednesday night at an Atlanta hospital following an operation. He will be buried in the Decatur cemetery.

Dr. Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of the city schools, paid Mr. Terrell tribute Thursday for his work on the board of education for 10 years. "He rendered splendid service during his regime," the superintendent said. Mr. Terrell was a leader in fraternal affairs and was a past master of the Atlanta Lodge No. 50, F. & A. M., a 33rd degree Mason and a member of the Yarrab temple of the Shrine. He was councilman for two terms and was a delegate to the democratic convention in 1912. His brother was the late Fire Chief John Terrell.

Add about 2 tablespoons water. Place in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about 45 minutes or until chops are tender.

Pare, core and halve the apples cross-wise. Make a syrup of sugar, red cinnamon candies and water. Simmer the apples in this until tender and a bright red, being careful that they are not broken. Arrange the chops on a hot platter and place a half cinnamon apple on each. Garnish with watercress and insert a sprig of cress in each apple.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE. Lucas Cresap and his Chinese servant are found dead in the upper room of Cresap's boathouse on Kettle pond, near the eastern end of Long Island. Gilbert Jonathan Redd, Cresap's assistant, keeps a written private account of developments in the case. A blow on the forehead from a slender, sharp-edged implement killed Cresap. The cause of the Chinaman's death is not apparent. Captain Bray, a special investigator, and an old friend of Redd's, helps the men from the district attorney's office in solving the crime. Redd is a former police reporter. Florence Dane, Cresap's niece and long before you men came. He must have been out both times.

"You mean to say, miss, you called up the Hotel Algonquin and asked for Gregory Thorpe and still you got back no word from him then or there after?"

"No, you see, I asked for George Thomas."

"But who is he?" He manifested complete bewilderment and I think it was the genuine article.

"Gregory. He registered under an assumed name—I mean a different name."

"Why?"

"How—why should I know?" she fenced desperately.

"Why should any one know better than you, miss? That's what I'm after asking myself."

"Don't let her lie to you!" Sabino fairly shrieked it out and at the corners of his mouth there were foamy beads of spittle. "She called up twice today—yes. But ask her about last night—last night just before 11 o'clock when she called her precious George Thomas."

"Wipe off your chin, brother—your dribbling on yourself," counseled Bray calmly. "I don't like that word 'lie' you used, neither. And there's a saying—little ones shouldn't speak till they've been spoken to. So I'm asking you to shut your jaw and get out and stay out and leave me run this in my own feeble way."

His features working convulsively, the pigmy slid off his stool and toddled out. Across at her Bray leveled an accusing finger, like a pistol muzzle.

"Is that true, miss, what he says—that you called up last night around 11?"

"Yes," she said shiveringly.

"Why leave that out? You leave out so much, Miss."

"I must have forgotten. You—twist me up so."

"I'm sorry I've rushed you off your feet. I'll swear 'twas unintentional on my part, and your foster uncle here would tell you the same of me if he wasn't by way of being, for the moment, a bit upset and overheated. . . . Well, leave us figure this out a step further along: At maybe the very minute when your other uncle, Uncle Cresap Esquire, is having his brains clouded out of his skull, or any way within half an hour of it, your young man, and him for no reason that I see, is willing to explain, sailing under false colors, apparently still hasn't got back to his hotel, yet having slathers of time for do as he pleases at all. Now when you say he left here. And twice today he don't answer calls, neither. Nor does he call you up, though surely you must've left your name and the number? Well, p'raps now somebody else might have better luck than you did, Miss, or p'raps again he wouldn't. But all we can do is try. Mr. Motley would you be so good as to go to the phone in that reception hall adjacent to us here and raise the Algonquin hotel people by long distance, and ask them would they kindly ascertain and report back why Mr. Gregory Thorpe, of Toledo, alias Mr. George Thomas, of nowhere in particular, don't answer to urgent and pressing phone calls at all?"

"That'll be sufficient from you for the present, Miss. I'm sorry I've tired you out and wore you down with my blathering. Suppose you run along to your room and lie down and drink a dish of tea for your nerves. Without something absolutely unexpected should crop up, I promise you we'll not be disturbing you again—tonight, at least."

I led her to the door, she all sagged and heavy in the loop of my arm and her feet, but though there had been clogs on them. She didn't move like the vivid, vital, gorgeous thing she is: she moved like one weighted down and decrepit. At the door I kissed her twice on her haggard face and I told her to brace up and get hold of herself. I watched Florence go, staggering a little, toward the stairs and then I turned and walked back to where Bray sat, and held out by hand to him.

"Is it congratulations you're offering?" he asked.

"Congratulations, hell!" I said. "By rights I should be offering you a wallop on the jaw. I never realized before now—now that it's come to me—what a brutal trade I used to follow and what a brutal trade you still follow. You're no more mercy in your, once you smell blood, than a hungry dog."

"And don't be saying that, Gilly, me-lad," he pleaded. "There's things go against my grain more than you'd think. It's the job I've got to think of—that and the cause of justice."

"Cause of justice be damned!" I said. "You, a hired mercenary, prating that stuff to me who knows you like a book!"

I was still holding out my hand.

"Well," I asked him, "do I get my property back or wun it be Exhibit A for the prosecution?"

"O, that!" he said, and beamed at me. "Why, sure you get it back, Gilly. Wun't it be the best I've got to think of—that and the cause of justice?"

"It may have dropped out without my noticing it while I was leaning over him, telling him what I thought of him. And possibly it rolled under his chair. And stayed there until you or your boy found it."

"I was telling him the truth and nothing but the truth and he must have known that was what I was doing."

"Likely you're right," he agreed. "But what peckers use is why that young lady should make a wild stab at guessing 'twas yours, and the next second be trying to cover up for you."

"Possibly she thought I wouldn't have any alibi."

"That must be it, sure! Her not knowing that a party with no probable motive need not need an alibi near as much as parties that have got a motive. Speaking of alibis, you don't know yet what Motley got from your cook, do you? When we've a minute to spare, I'll tell you what she told him. It's all right, Gilly, it's all right. Not that I was interested. You were the only one seemed concerned. That's the way I like my looking young girl now, what-else is she still holding back on us? Why should she duck and dodge when I asked her did she see or hear anything last night late down toward that boathouse? Wait, wait, Gilly, he hurriedly amended. "Don't keep on getting me wrong. One look at her and I'll be willing to take my paralyzed oath that not in 10,000 years would she have a hand in any dirty work of any kind or nature whatever. But this here picture you say she left here. And twice today he don't answer calls, neither. Nor does he call you up, though surely you must've left your name and the number? Well, p'raps now somebody else might have better luck than you did, Miss, or p'raps again he wouldn't. But all we can do is try. Mr. Motley would you be so good as to go to the phone in that reception hall adjacent to us here and raise the Algonquin hotel people by long distance, and ask them would they kindly ascertain and report back why Mr. Gregory Thorpe, of Toledo, alias Mr. George Thomas, of nowhere in particular, don't answer to urgent and pressing phone calls at all?"

NOMINATION OF CONE GOES BEFORE SENATE

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS. WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 4.—President Roosevelt today sent to the senate the nomination of Howell Cone, of Statesboro, as collector of customs at Savannah.

Mr. Cone is already serving as collector, having been appointed by the president during the congressional recess last summer. His name was sent in for confirmation along with a long batch of recess appointments previously made.

For some reason, the president failed to include in today's batch the nomination of Judge Saxton Daniels, of Claxton, as United States district attorney for the southern district of the state, who was given a recess appointment at the same time as Collector Cone. This is looked upon as an oversight, however, and his name is expected to be included in a supplemental list to be forwarded to the senate later in the week.

Both Senator Walter F. George and Senator Richard B. Russell, of Georgia, collaborated in the selection of Mr. Cone and Judge Daniels to their present posts and no opposition to confirmation is therefore expected.

Aside from the various postmaster-general appointments of which will be left to the individual congressmen in most cases, the most important federal patronage remaining in the state consists of the United States attorney and marshal for the northern district with headquarters in Atlanta. Neither of these offices has yet been filled. Under the recess reached by the two Georgia senators, at the beginning of the Roosevelt administration, appointment of the two offices in the northern district will be left to Senator Russell.

Already Senator Russell has announced that he will recommend Lawrence Camp, former state attorney-general under the Russell administration. The junior senator had not yet revealed who his choice will be for marshal.

The terms of District Attorney

Clint W. Higer and Marshal L. W. Crawford expire soon and it is consequently expected that their successors will be named during the present session.

Pu-Yi To Ascend Throne Of Manchukuo March 1

HSINCHING (Changchun), Manchukuo, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Pu-Yi, 28, is expected to be crowned king of Manchukuo March 1, with all the pomp and glory of China's ancient days of imperial grandeur.

(Dispatches from Tokyo January 2 had indicated Pu-Yi's coronation was expected shortly.)

A special coronation commission will be inaugurated January 10 to arrange for the former emperor's restoration to the dragon throne. The date intended would coincide with the second anniversary of Manchukuo's foundation by Japan, which wrested the territory from Manchuria to establish the present state.

For some reason, the president failed to include in today's batch the nomination of Judge Saxton Daniels, of Claxton, as United States district attorney for the southern district of the state, who was given a recess appointment at the same time as Collector Cone. This is looked upon as an oversight, however, and his name is expected to be included in a supplemental list to be forwarded to the senate later in the week.

Both Senator Walter F. George and Senator Richard B. Russell, of Georgia, collaborated in the selection of Mr. Cone and Judge Daniels to their present posts and no opposition to confirmation is therefore expected.

Already Senator Russell has announced that he will recommend Lawrence Camp, former state attorney-general under the Russell administration. The junior senator had not yet revealed who his choice will be for marshal.

Culbertson on Contract

Reaching Right Contract.
BY ELY CULBERTSON
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

The lure of honors in Contract has resulted disastrously very often at the Bridge table. Players, blinded by the count for honors, oftentimes forget that "The game's the thing" and insist upon bidding suits which will yield an honor count to the point where they reach an unmakeable contract, or, when they stop at a contract which can be made, find that they have surrendered a game for a paltry 100 points. The hand below is an illustration of the principle that the Responding Hand should not realize that after partner's minimum response to a "One over One" take out of one diamond his almost certain six tricks in one suit make game at notrump and extreme probability, while making game at any other choice of suit is an extreme improbability.

The bidding:
North East South West

The problem presented in the above hand is one of bidding only. The play presents no difficulty whatever, regardless of the opening lead. Many players would bid and rebid diamonds with South's hand and probably continue the auction until an unmakeable contract had been undertaken. Such a policy on the part of South is both unwise and unsound. No doubt, South would like to mash the honors, but he should not permit this to prevent the greater good to the partnership of scoring a game. Hence, when North opens the bidding with one diamond, North's bid of one notrump indicates a minimum or near-minimum hand which does not suggest the possibility of making a contract of five diamonds.

South should now respond with three notrump. With a solid suit game should be a practical certainty, and South should bid it.

As I have previously said, the contract of three notrump can not be defeated, regardless of what card or suit East elects to open.

TOMORROW'S HAND.
If north opens the bidding with one club, what should be South's response and what should be the final contract? West Dealer.

Muriel McCormick Pays Thousands For Mother's Treasures at Auction

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Two of the most treasured possessions of Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, were put up on the auction block today, and for the first time since the sale of her effects began, Mrs. McCormick's daughter, Muriel—now Mrs. E. D. Hubbard—showed signs of outward emotion.

She bought both the capes—an expensive affair of chinchilla, and a striking cape of Russian ermine. Spectators around her noticed, however, that she flushed and seemed upset.

Everything about today's sale was lavish, for a crowd of 2,500 of the wealthy and curious packed every inch of the auction room.

Sharp-eyed jewelers and dealers in antiques elbowed society women for room. Longnettes and gardenias were all over the place.

Sales amounted to $55,382, making a total of $136,827 for the auction thus far.

The most spectacular object today was Mrs. McCormick's eye-smashing diamond necklace, with 1,801 diamonds, 103 of them large ones and two very large. Amid crackling excitement, it went for $15,000. It was bought by an agent.

Mrs. Hubbard herself spent more than that amount, her purchases amounting to almost $20,000. Beside the chinchilla and ermine capes, she bought a diamond and sapphire bracelet for $4,700, a diamond and pearl pendant for $4,100, a sapphire bracelet for $1,600, a pair of pearls and diamond earrings for $2,400 and a ring set with a single huge pearl for $2,300.

More of the ornate French furniture which made the McCormick family mansion a delight to antique dealers, and pair of bronze and crystal candelabra rounded out her purchases.

A Russian sable coat went to H. H. Grinnell for $3,400, in excited bidding, and a short chinchilla coat, looking a bit dingy, to H. D. Perkins for $1,600.

Mrs. E. C. Lynch paid $3,000 for a diamond and pearl ring, and Mrs. E. D. Patterson bought a huge Aubusson carpet for $1,900.

A silver and tortoise shell toilet case said to have been used by Napoleon fetched $80, and a small gold boudoirier which the catalogue said Napoleon "in all probability" presented to his empress, Marie Louise, went for $800. Someone paid $100 for Mrs. McCormick's gold and turquoise seal, with its inscription "E. R. McC. Christmas, 1904."

Tomorrow the gilded silver service which Napoleon gave his sister, Pauline, and her husband, Prince Camille Borghese, will be put up to dazzle the spectators.

AT FURNITURE MART
CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Officials of the American furniture mart were enthusiastic today over what they called an encouraging trend in the industry as the 20th annual furniture show swung into stride with buyers arriving in increased numbers from all sections of the nation.

A quick survey of the hundreds of exhibits in the spacious mart on Lake Shore drive indicated that the price trend was about a third higher than the low mark of last March and approximately 20 per cent above last summer's quotations.

Tuna Fish With Cheese Baked in a Casserole Has Real Flavor

BY FLORENCE LA GANKE

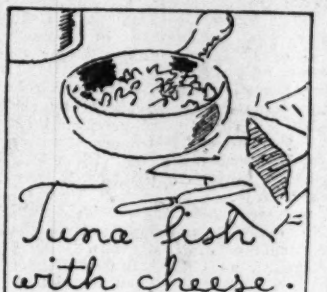

Eleanor was enjoying a last minute gossip with Marjorie. "Oh, dear, look how late it is getting. I must run." "Don't go yet, I want to tell you about Dorothy's husband, he"—and off she went into a long dissertation on his latest escapade. The hour kept getting later and later. Finally Eleanor said, "Honestly, Marjorie, I must go. I don't know yet what I am going to have for dinner." "You don't? Well how about calling Frank and asking him to come over here for dinner? We are having a simple meal but you are welcome. So come on, stay."

Eleanor called Frank. He was agreeable. About an hour later they sat down to a simple meal of baked potatoes, tuna fish prepared with French dressing and lettuce salad with French dressing and steamed fruit pudding with hard sauce.

Eleanor learned quite a few things as she watched Marjorie work. First, she found that simple foods could be served to company. Fussy dishes like stuffed baked potatoes, meaty and white were as good, if not better. She found that Eleanor always kept lettuce and the makings of French dressing on hand. She found, too, that cans of fruit pudding could be steamed while dinner was being prepared and served with great acclaim.

The tuna fish dish was made by combining tuna with freshly crumbled bread, a hard cooked egg or two, some chopped green olives, seasonings, top milk and grated cheese. The cheese was sprinkled over the top in generous amounts. The casserole was put in the oven to bake and at the end of one-half hour the dish was ready to serve and pronounced, "grand," "swell," "simply delicious," and a host of other complimentary terms.

Hearing Delayed.
NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—(AP)—A second adjournment was taken today in the scheduled hearing for Wallace Scates, 25, who was arrested last Tuesday on a charge of being a fugitive from justice in North Carolina.

140 Miners Killed In Czech Tunnel

DUCHOV, Czechoslovakia, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Hope was abandoned for 129 entombed miners in the "Rou III" coal mine tonight when, after day-long efforts to conquer an underground fire which repeatedly broke out in the workings, engineers concluded there was no chance of reaching the men alive.

The only survivors of a terrific blast that imprisoned the workers were four who escaped immediately after the explosion. A total of 11 bodies was recovered, making the aggregate conceded death toll 140.

Nearly three-fourths of the victims are heads of families. One leaves seven children.
